oodward Academy's Upper School, occupying Brewster and McKay Halls, is the central focal point for the Academy's programs.

An Upper School student is exposed to an extensive curriculum which expands the student's creativity and individuality. The Upper School teachers strive to help each student reach his full potential by instilling in each student a sense of excellence. In grades nine through twelve, the students begin to form the basis of their college education by choosing the direction their education will take. The Upper School not only gives the students the academic foundation that is needed for college, but also gives them the sense of responsibility needed for adulthood. The Middle School, located in R.L. Brand Hall, bridges the gap between the Lower Schools and the Middle School. The purpose of the Middle School is to prepare students academically, athletically and emotionally for the new experiences of the Upper School. The Middle School is successful in this endeavor as the school meets the needs of the student as a whole person. The key to this success is a dedicated faculty working together to bring out the best in each student. Because of this obvious concern, the Middle School is a place of unbounding excitement and enthusiasm where each student can form those skills and talents necessary to be successful in the Upper School.

1. Senior Seth Cushman takes his turn as monitor in the Upper School. 2. Chuck Martino and Chris Smith use their time wisely in Mr. Howick's Oceanography class. 3. Mark Elias reads his test carefully before answering the questions. 4. Middle School student Scott Zimmerman was required to take Computer Science as an eighth grader. 5. Essay questions require great concentration. 6. Mr. Dearolph of the Science Department is an important member of the Upper School faculty. 7. During P.E., Middle School students participate in many athletic activities. 8. Kevin Brumlow realizes that practice is required to be proficient at a foreign language. 9. Active debaters, David Strickland, Brett Mizelle and Mett Miller relax during a debate team meeting.

t the Lower School, which is located in Tucker and Rutland Halls, a Woodward Academy student's education begins. The school prepares the younger students by coordinating its curriculum with the Middle and Upper Schools. The faculty insures that its curriculum gives the students the foundation necessary for a strong education. By exposing the students to all concepts of learning, the Lower School is able to instill a sense of responsibility and citizenship in its students. As students move from one level of accomplishment to the next, they are expected to be progressively more responsible for themselves. The Lower School students are encouraged to become involved in other school activities such as intramural sports, performing groups, and special interest groups. By doing so, they can develop their talents and interests, always striving to be the best students they can be. The Busey School, located in Riverdale, is very much an integral part of Woodward Academy. Located on 23 beautifully wooded acres, Busey School lays the foundation for the continued education of Woodward students. Because of its size and location, the school has the advantage of being an active community school as most of the Busey School students live in the surrounding areas of Fayette and Clayton counties. Like the Lower School of main campus, Busey gives each student confidence in order to successfully make the transition not to the Middle School, but main campus as well.

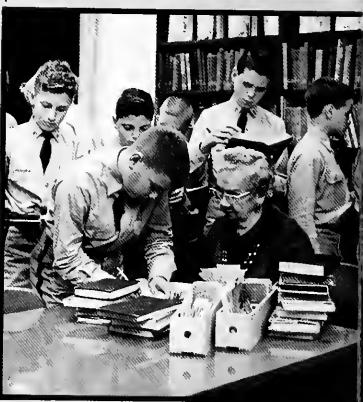

1. The Lower School has students who participate in an active scouting program. 2. The Busey School has students in kindergarten through grade six. 3. An art student in the Lower School finds many methods to perfect her drawing. 4. Lauren Rawlins is fascinated by an interesting book. 5. The Pre-School students enjoy the natural setting of Busey. 6. Students are taught early to appreciate art. 7. Lower School students take a break for lunch. 8. The Busey School is fortunate to have dedicated teachers such as Mrs. Katherine Young.

ith the advancement of time, all aspects of life changes. In 1900, Georgia Military Academy was founded by Colonel John Charles Woodward as a military school for young men. Since that time the small boys school has grown into a prominent, flourishing co-educational academy. There have been many physical changes at the Academy; however, the focus on maintaining high academic standards still remains as constant as it was in 1900. In 1932, Colonel Woodward turned over ownership of Georgia Military Academy by deeding it to a self-perpetuating Board of Govenors. Today GMA/Woodward Academy has an all-time record enrollment of over 1700 students. Regardless of the number of students, one thing that has remained constant for 84 years is the Academy motto: "Every Opportunity for Every Student." This will be the standard banner of the Academy as it begins its next 84 years of excellence.

t the beginning of this century, Woodward Academy, then Georgia Military Academy, was founded. In 1932, Colonel and Mrs. John Charles Woodward transferred ownership of Georgia Military Academy to a special Board of Governors. Afterwards, the State of Georgia granted a new charter to the school as a non-profit institution. Since that time Woodward Academy has retained the tradition of a Board of Governors. Members are individuals who are recognized leaders in their professions and in their communities. Through the Board of Governors, the Academy continues to offer every opportunity for every student. Members of the board include Ben Johnson, Chairman, Ray Crocker, Ray Woodall, Anne Rivers Siddons, C.W. Dukeheart, Charles Pyke, Byron Harper, Thomas Lyons, Gene Milner, Ben Jenkins, Emeritus, Robert Tucker, J.W. Jones, Edward Andrews, Paul Heard, Robert Brand, James Colquitt, John McDonough, William Allison, A.A. Malazia, William Clark, John Randolph, Thomas Busey, Michael Carlos, W. Dexter Douglass, Phil Gramm, Waldo Kennedy, Frederick Martin, Tim O'Brien and Betty Talmadge.

Colonel Woodward's sister, Grace Palmer, and her husband attend Homecoming festivities.

Woodward Academy has a variety of sources which oversee the workings of the Academy. One such source is the Administrative team lead by the President of the Academy, Dr. Gary M. Jones. Dr. Jones focuses on Public Relations, Academy development, Alumni Relations and Fund Raising. Mr. Don Woolf, Headmaster of the Academy directs the Curriculum, Academic Instruction, Personnel and extra-curricular activities for the Academy. Mr. James Chandler, Vice-President of Finance for the Academy serves as Secretary of the Board of Governors. Even though Woodward Academy is recognized as one of this country's predominant private preparatory schools with an enrollment of over 1700 students, the school has the distinct advantage of a close and devoted administration that has the all consuming goal of making sure that the Academy develops the best in each of its students.

1. As Headmaster, Mr. Woolf is a central figure at the Academy's formal ceremonies. 2. As Vice-President of Finance, Mr. Chandler is responsible for the Academy's central accounts computer. 3. Mr. Ballentine, Principal of the Upper School, takes time to visit with a faculty member. 4. Always available, Dr. Donovan shares a laugh with a Middle School student who dropped by for a chat. 5. As President of the Academy, Dr. Jones presides over the annual Donor Recognition dinner. 6. Mrs. Berry, Assistant Principal and Mr. Cobb, Principal of The Busey School love the country surroundings of the school. 7. Taking time to catch up on new Academy uniform policy, Mr. Wendt of the Lower School relaxes in his office. 8. Mr. Ballentine instructs excited seniors in graduation procedures. 9. Dr. and Mrs. Jones have always strived to maintain warm and close contacts with Woodward Students and Alumni.

lumni of GMA/Woodward Academy are an impressive group of individuals who are both a part of the history of the Academy and its future. Distinguished Alumni include Robert W. Woodruff '08, Atlanta's "Mr. Anonymous" and Chairman of the Board of the Coca-Cola Company; Randolph W. Thrower '30, former Director of the Internal Revenue Service; Ben Johnson '61, Chairman of the Academy's Governing Board, and the most recent recipient of the Distinguished Alumnus Award, Mr. Carl Anderson '39, President of An-Son Corporation in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. Various campus buildings bear the names of Academy alumni such as: Colquitt Stadium for James A. Colquitt '36, Chairman Emeritus of the Academy's Governing Board; R.L. Brand Middle School for R.L. Brand '35, an active member of the Academy's board; and Kennedy Natatorium for Cecil Kennedy '35.

The GMA/WA Alumni Association, headed by Dr. Charles Hixon '66, strives to renew alumni interest in the Academy by sponsoring events such as Homecoming and the Annual Spring Barbecue, and annually gives four Alumni Scholarships to deserving students. Through alumni participation, the strong and proud heritage of the Academy may be preserved and perpetuated.

1. Alumnus Ray Woodall '50 enjoys a visit with Col. and Mrs. Dean Russell. 2. Alumni Association officers Linda Hixon '74, Gil Morgan '74, and Bobby Bowers '74 listen attentively as Association president Chuck Hixon '66 outlines his plans for the coming year. 3. Alumnus John Pearson '43 reminisces about his days at GMA. 4. Carl Anderson '39 received the 1983 Distinguished Alumnus Award and served as the Founder's Day Convocation speaker. 5. Alumnus Jim Yarbrough '63 looks over the treasurer's report at the annual association meeting held during the Homecoming activities. 6. Alumni Homecoming Queens and their escorts were an added attraction during the Homecoming festivities. 7. Academy alumni are always welcome on campus, but especially during Homecoming. 8. Alumni always enjoy looking at memorabilia from the Academy's past.

Woodward Academy's Parents Club is the official organization for parents to help support the Academy's academic, athletic and artistic programs. The Parents Club consists of the Executive Committee, Individual School Officers, the Committees-At-Large, and the Standing Committees. The Executive Committee meets monthly to transact general business and to coordinate activities. Each school has individual officers that work on projects for that school. The Committees-At-Large have responsibility for certain projects of service and fund raising. The Standing Committees meet with administrators, teachers, and students to communicate the progress and interest of certain areas. The general projects of the Parents Club include the Academy Calendar, the Academy Directory, football programs, the football concession stand, and other programs for each school. Executive Officers of the Parents Club include Allen and Sue Adams, Alice and Hugh Weaver, Jan and John Wood, Alan and Sally Stith, and Sandy and Bob Thomas.

1. Many parents have a hard time finding their way around campus. 2. Some parents enjoy Parents Day because it brings back fond memories of their school days. 3. Mr. McKelvy, chemistry instructor, explains his course to parents. 4. Mr. Sanders is able to answer any questions a parent might have about the English curriculum. 5. After registering, parents wait for the bell to ring before going to class. 6. The Parents Club of Woodward Academy strives to help the four schools and keep fellow parents informed of the activities. 7. During free-periods, parents converse in the courtyard of Brewster Hall.

EXTRA AND ORDINARY CLASSES

OCEANOGRAPHY

In 1983, Woodward's Science Department offered a new course in Oceanography. Taught by Mr. Tom Howick, the class instructed "land-locked" students in the ageless questions of the oceans and to revere its beauty and serenity. Students were taught concepts of navigation and chart-reading. Field trips were offered to beach locations so that students could master and perfect information learned in the classroom. The course provided another avenue of development of the student's ability to question, comprehend and appreciate.

JEWELRY DESIGN

The Jewelry Design class began in 1981, when Mr. Chris Greenway of the Visual Arts Department began teaching at Woodward. In this class, students design and create their own jewelry "masterpiece" whether it be a ring or other form. The students can work with various materials such as brass, copper, and sterling silver. The class is equipped with all materials and machinery needed so that each student has the opportunity to express his creativity.

LAW

For several years, students have had the opportunity to study Law at Woodward. Taught by Mr. Walter Monti, students receive insight into the American court system untangling many of the legal questions surrounding court cases. The students learn about how a case is readied for court. They become familiar with briefs, depositions, interrogatories and judgments. The students then practice their legal knowledge by preparing and participating in several mock court cases.

TRIPS

For the Lower School students, lessons can sometimes be very confusing. It is hard to understand information about places or topics when the student cannot visualize the concept. The student has a jumble of information and no way to straighten out the mess. It is like pieces of a puzzle. The student is better able to understand when he can see the actual place where an event happened or how something works. Field trips help the pieces of the educational puzzles fall into place and fit together.

Every year many Woodward Academy Lower School students visit different parts of the country. This year in April, the fourth grade class visited several historical sites in Georgia including a tour of Savannah, first city of Georgia, the main attraction of the expedition. In Savannah, they were able to learn more about Savannah's defenses as they crawled in and over Ft. Pulaski on Cockspur Island located in the middle of the Savannah River.

Also in April, the fifth grade visited Huntsville, Alabama, where they toured the Space Center rocket base and learned of the technological advances made in the space field. They also went to Williamsburg, Virginia, where they watched actual colonial crafts being demonstrated, observed a military reenactment and walked through the Capital, home of the first Virginia House of Burgesses. They also toured colonial Jamestown, first permanent English settlement, and Busch Gardens.

The sixth grade students visited Dahlonega, Georgia in September, where they were given the chance to pan for gold and explore the surroundings on nature walks. They also visited the nation's capital in March, where they toured all of the important attractions of the city. This included the White House, Lincoln Memorial, the Jefferson Memorial and spent long hours touring the Smithsonian Institute.

1. John Sheffield and Stephen Faddock enjoy the rides at the space center in Huntsville. 2. Chuck Green attempts to "make friends" with a mole in Huntsville, Alabama. 3. Rob Sidey, Chris DeWeese and Matthew Perry enjoy the view from the top of Fort Pulaski in Savannah. 4. Sixth graders see many sights in Washington, including the changing of the guard at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. 5. Brad Ward and Kevin Benefield search diligently for insects in the stream at Dahlonega. 6. Keith Johnston participated in a nature hike through the woods of Dahlonega, Georgia. 7. Previous Woodward sixth graders pose with Georgia Senator Sam Nunn in Washington, D.C.

Experience

During Spring quarter, Woodward Academy art students have the opportunity to exhibit their talents and skills. This special event, held in May, is "Experience the Arts Day," held on the steps and plaza of Richardson Hall. Developed by Mrs. Lane Fristoe, Visual Arts Department Chairman and other art department faculty, art students demonstrated various art forms including button-making, face-painting, sculpture, photography, painting, ceramics and jewelry design. Students watched designs in weaving and pottery develop as the artists exhibited their skills. The art department sold T-shirts with the 1983 Experience the Arts logo which had been designed by an art student. The "Experience the Arts Day" festival gave students the opportunity to admire the talents of Woodward art students and were encouraged to join in the fun. This celebration of art is Woodward's way of exhibiting the creativity and talents of a very select group of students.

1. Keith Gilstrap uses wood and linoleum blocks as a method for printing pictures. 2. David Henderson explains his paintings to a fellow student. 3. Matt Fischman's sculpture began as a big block of plaster only to be revealed later in its final form. 4. For the art of face painting to be effective, Carrie Marxmiller must maintain a steady hand. 5. Glen Burgess, like other students, takes time to write a short message on the community drawing board. 6. Alonso Duralde helped with Experience the Arts Day by selling cookies. 7. Mrs. Lane Fristoe, department head of visual arts, looks on as students enjoy the day and "experience the arts."

The Arts

The Junior Varsity football team upheld the traditional excellence of Woodward with a final record of four wins, one loss and one tie. Using the talents of the players to their fullest, they pulled together to give a great season. The team was led by offensive coach Stan Crook and defensive coach Don Cordell. The accomplishments of the Junior Varsity team will definitely aid the 1983 Varsity team. Future players who can stand out were defensive players Chris Wray and Chris Smith, along with Charlie Wray and Jon Temple, and Eric Ellis. The players and Eric Ellis with the most interceptions.

CARPE DIEM

Uniquely sweet, this object of desire;
Yet none hate so vicious a temperament
As I, who so quickly aroused in ire.
I consider it a more beautiful bent
Than that of any hypocritical saint.
Unwillingly, in time, her body underwent
A transformation that could set her heart on fire
And make her keen long to reach your dearth,
And pass your mate, My love, before I
Oh, take a mate, My love, before I
Of your own most critical point
When love, you too can go the usual route
Of single maid, before they breathe a final breath.
Of moments, not love, inflame each joint.

The squirrels were barking in the trees,
The air was full of flies and bees,
The sky was cloudy, the temperature cool.
The buck I was after was no common fool.
I remained on my stand for hours on end,
Some time later my legs would scarcely bend,
Then I saw him streaking through the woods.
Something like a toad he made away with the goods.
I raised my gun slowly and took careful aim,
He was so short, then went to get my name.

WATV

Led by returning senior players Eric Archer, Van Porter, Jody Fowler, Ronnie Dunbar, Mike Wilson and Scott Jones, the Varsity Baseball team presented strong competition for other region teams. With coaches by Jim Miller, the team perfected their skills, enabling them to overcome tough opponents and again clinch a win this season.

The Lower School Football program proved to be very successful with four teams capturing two championships between during the fall. Under the leadership of coaches, Winzell, Dushane, Chris Green, Wally Miller, Murphy and Ed Harsch, these four through team grade boys earned the title of football as well as the value of competition.

information on campus. Each morning WATV presents a student written, produced and directed show. Students write skits, interview celebrities, and film campus events. Then they edit all the available information, add special effects and sound and have it ready to go by 8:15 every school morning. An excellent learning opportunity, students are involved in every facet of television production. For students interested in a television career, Woodward provides another opportunity to get a head start.

The Woodward Academy literary magazine, under the sponsorship of English Department members Mrs. Carolyn Haldeman and Mr. Kevin Harky, represents the creative efforts of the Upper School student body. The title, Silent Voices, based on Tennyson's poem, "The Silent Voices" speaks of one's attempt to rise from momentary fears and despair.

The literary magazine provides an opportunity for students to express their inner thoughts and feelings through the use of poetry, songs, short stories, and art work. The 1984 Silent Voices was Woodward's first literary magazine to be entered in national competition. Long hours, determination and dedication were the by-words of co-editors Ann Askew and Nancy Howard and the twenty-one member staff as they produced another excellent and creative magazine.

The 1984 Phoenix staff led by Advisor Susan Sentell, worked to produce a yearbook that covered all aspects of the school. There was a new addition to the Book — the use of second color in the introductory section.

The yearbook is the largest public relations document of the Academy and unless one has been involved in the production of a yearbook, it is hard to understand the complexity of such work. Copy must be written and then rewritten, layouts must be designed and drawn, pictures chosen and captions written. The staff began learning all these intricacies when they attended summer camp at the University of Georgia.

For the past two years, The Phoenix has proven to be an outstanding yearbook. The 1982 Phoenix won the design award for layout given by the Printing Industries of America, the first for any high school yearbook in Georgia. The 1983 Phoenix is in competition and will prove to be another award winning book. The 1984 Phoenix, under the direction of Editor Debbie Newman and Assistant Editor Phenizee McElroy will continue the winning Woodward tradition.

Under the sponsorship of English Department Chairman, Mrs. Bobby Alford, The Blade, the Upper School newspaper, continued its excellent coverage of Woodward Academy's events. The dedicated staff of writers, editors, artists and photographers provided varied features on sports, student issues, musical groups and all other information of concern to the Woodward community. Alonso Duralde, Senior Editor, and The Blade staff produced six issues of the newspaper, including the last issue being the Senior issue.

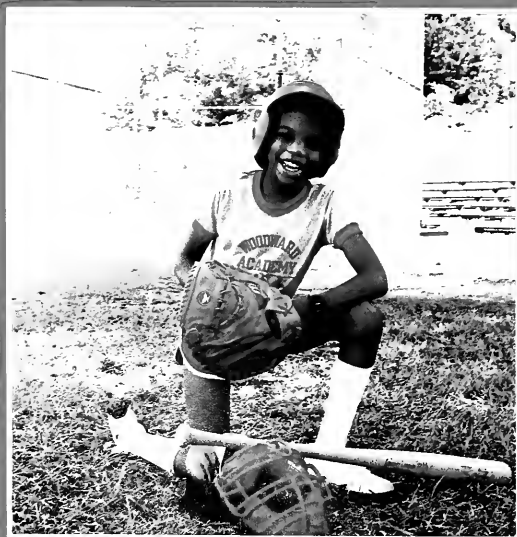

Another means of communication, is Woodward's WATV. The only school with a closed-circuit television station, WATV is one of the major sources of

Class of 1994

Many times teachers are seen as those people who delight in giving lectures, tests and detentions. Students do not realize that Woodward Academy teachers have varied and interesting lives outside the classroom. Woodward has a distinct advantage in that several of its teachers have interests that go "Beyond the Blackboard."

Runners are one of the most familiar sights in College Park. Woodward can claim four very dedicated runners who are frequently seen running the streets of College Park.

One of these runners is Cross Country coach Errol "Big E" Sanders of the Upper School English Department. A veteran runner, Coach Sanders has been running for 13 years. Coach Sanders has run in several races including the College Park April Fool's Day Race, the Griffin 10K Run, the Peachtree Road Race where he finished in the top 10,000 runners and his signature race, the Maggie Valley 10K Moonlight Race.

Another fast moving sight is "Slim Jim" Donovan, principal of the Middle School. Dr. Donovan is also a veteran of 13 years when he began running for medical reasons. One of Atlanta's few seeded runners, Dr. Donovan has competed in the Boston Marathon, the Atlanta Marathon and the Peachtree Road Race where he finished in the top 500 racers in the 1983 race.

Staying with the pack is "Dave the Rave" Chandler, assistant principal of the Lower School. Mr. Chandler started running when he found that running helped him stay in shape for basketball. Although Mr. Chandler runs as a hobby and not as a competitor, he has run in several local races including the College Park April Fool's Day Race and has competed in several Peachtree Road Races.

Another hard-working Woodward runner is "All Pro Al" Wendt, principal of the Lower School. Like others who run, Mr. Wendt began to run as a means of staying in shape. Mr. Wendt has participated in several races including the Atlanta Marathon and the Peachtree Road Race. Someday he hopes to run in the Boston Marathon.

Woodward math teacher, Mrs. Nancy Bunker is an avid soccer player. Mrs. Bunker plays on the Decatur/DeKalb YWCA team and serves on the board of the DeKalb Soccer Association. She plays the halfback position and has played for three years. To Mrs. Bunker, the best thing about playing soccer is getting out into the fresh air and having fun with people who enjoy the same sport.

Woodward's Tom Howick, a science teacher, is an avid scuba diver. Mr. Howick, who grew up in a beachside city, was curious about what was under the surface of the ocean. This curiosity sparked his interest in scuba diving. He belongs to several diving clubs and is noted for founding "Atlanta Oceans."

Mrs. Susan Patterson, a teacher in the kindergarten enjoys beekeeping as a hobby. Her father, Captain William R. Brewster, kept bees as a hobby so naturally Mrs. Patterson became interested as she assisted her father. Because of time and distance, Mrs. Patterson is only able to tend to her hives on Jekyll Island four times a year.

Kevin Harkey of the Upper School

English Department serves his community in many ways. Not only is Mr. Harkey an instructor at Woodward Academy, but he is also an ordained minister. Because of his school involvement, he ministers on a part time basis. Mr. Harkey began preaching because he felt the need to serve both God and man and he felt God called upon him to take up this task. He receives his satisfaction from knowing that he is able to share his love of God and the "eternal truth."

Mrs. Arline Deacon, Upper School science teacher does not look like a construction worker, but in reality, she is! Mrs. Deacon has been personally contracting the building of her new home. She decided to attend the Georgia Institute for Home Builders to learn more about building her own home. The house, begun in May, 1983, and completed in November, 1983, required a great deal of time. Regardless of the time, she received a great deal of satisfaction seeing her home built to her quality specifications.

"I've always been a performer," stated Ted Jones, Upper School History teacher, "That's why I'm a teacher. I've got five captive audiences a day." Mr. Jones receives great satisfaction out of a good performance and he enjoys being able to work with others who are interested in acting and learning about the total theatre environment. Since coming to Atlanta, Mr. Jones has performed in three plays, "The Remers of Eldreith," "The Alladin" and "The Congress Woman".

"Teachers After Hours"

5. Both preacher as well as teacher, Mr. Harkey finds both professions rewarding. 2. Running between the lines, the four horsemen trot the last mile. 3. An avid soccer player, Mrs. Bunker thoroughly enjoys the outdoors. 4. Mrs. Patterson finds beekeeping as easy as ABC. 5. While exploring the depths of the ocean, Mr. Howick encounters many strange creatures. 6. Mr. Jones flies through the air with the greatest of ease. 7. Mrs. Deacon's diverse talents allow her to teach yet find time to contract her own house.

Country Cousins

An Important Part of the Family

Joey Roper

Mr. Cobb and Mrs. Berry

Woodward's "Country Cousins," The Busey School, is located away from the main campus in Riverdale, Georgia. Although apart from main campus, Busey is an important part of the Woodward family.

As a small school, Busey has the advantage of having a family atmosphere within the school. Many of the students and faculty members live in the community immediately around the school. Because of its compact size, Busey is able to provide more individualized attention for each student, continuing the Woodward tradition of excellence. This closeness also promotes friendships among students of all grades and age groups. Each Busey student has the opportunity to develop his own identity and plays an important role in the school's life.

The Busey School has the same curriculum as the main campus Lower School, yet because of its location, Busey offers other unique learning experiences such as horseback riding lessons. Also its country atmosphere and peaceful surroundings help create Busey's serene environment.

Although The Busey School is not located in College Park, Busey students are included in all the activities of the Academy. Busey students attend sporting events, plays, musicals and of course, Super Goober Day. Busey even has its own designated special night when the Busey faculty and students are warmly welcomed to the main campus.

Even though "Cousin" Busey is located in the "Country", it is still a very important and vital part of the Woodward family.

Dr. Gary M. Jones

As President of Woodward Academy, Dr. Gary M. Jones serves at the head of the triangular administration, working closely with Mr. Don Woolf and Mr. Jim Chandler to effectively coordinate all the areas within the Academy. Dr. Jones looks at his position at Woodward as one of service. He strives to ensure the quality of the Academy and the educational of opportunities that it offers. His dedication to the Academy is evident when he takes time to chat with students and parents and listen to the concerns of faculty and staff.

Mr. Don A. Woolf

A dedicated administrator, Mr. Don A. Woolf has played an important role in the successful growth of Woodward Academy. In his many years of service to Woodward Academy, he has served as dorm parent, Lower School principal and founding principal of the Busey School. As Vice-President and Headmaster of the Academy, Mr. Woolf strives to maintain the academic excellence of the Academy. He is responsible for regulating the curriculum, academetic instruction, personnel, and extra-curricular activities of each school. Because of his loving concern, each school has felt the caring touch of his interest.

Mr. James R. Chandler

Beginning as Mathematics instructor, Mr. James Chandler's involvement with the Academy has extended over a twenty-year period. Mr. Chandler assumed the responsibilities of Business Manager, and in 1980 was appointed Vice-President of Finance for the Academy. Mr. Chandler's expertise in business and finance has kept the Academy financially sound and running smoothly. His responsibilities also include running the campus computer center, and serving as secretary of the Board of Governors.

A school the size of Woodward Academy requires a very large staff to accommodate the students and faculty. The President and two Vice-Presidents serve as coordinators for the entire Academy, delegating various administrative responsibilities to other members on the staff. The Business office deals with all the financial matters which involve the students, faculty and parents. The Development office is mainly concerned with fund-raising and keeping in touch with the enormous number of alumni who have graduated from the Academy. Through the Admissions office new students applying to the Academy are screened and placed, maintaining the qualified student body. The Facilities Department works night and day keeping the buildings and grounds of the campus beautiful and clean.

Middle School Faculty

3 The Middle School, grades seven and eight, is the transition center for Woodward Academy students. In these middle years students experience rapid change and growth. No longer Lower School Children and not quite as mature as Upper School students, the Middle Schoolers question each new academic and growth experience. These questions are ably answered by a dedicated, concerned and talented faculty led by Principal Dr. Jim Donovan and Assistant Principal George Dietz. Because of the faculty's loving devotion to their task, all Middle School students are wisely guided through these difficult and exciting years.

1. OFFICE PERSONNEL — Mrs. Mary Jo Carpenter: M.Ed. Georgia State University, B.S. COMPUTER SCIENCE

"Learn about our future companions now! In these times to be completely literate, you must be computer literate."

Now in its second year, the Computer Science Department has met the goals it had planned for its second operational year. Due to the overwhelming response to the new department, a new computer lab was set up in the Lower School this year. Directed by Dr. Charles Hixon, the Upper School Computer Department contains approximately 36 computers of various brands and models. Computer Science is a mandatory requirement for completion of eighth grade, although Computer Science still remains an elective in the Upper School. With the growing awareness and usage of the computer and its potential for the future, the Computer Science course at Woodward offers students a solid foundation in understanding and successfully using computer technology.

1. The Apple is one of the most popular home computers. 2. Mrs. Ann Askew instructs the Lower School children in the new Lower School computer lab. 3. Because Computer Science is mandatory in the Middle School, Danny Newman takes the course before he enters the ninth grade. 4. Realizing that computer knowledge is important, Greg Spence and Alonso Duralde work on improving their skills. 5. Shay White finds that the more time she spends at the computer, the quicker she learns. 6. Dr. Hixon and Lisa Merritt watch John Moss destroy Jeff Miller during a computer game.

ENGLISH

"I would rather read and think slowly and explore all the dungeons and secret passages than be a speed reader who bounds from parapet to parapet and thinks he has seen the castle."

1. The English Department, chaired by Mrs. Bobby W. Alford, believes that the mastery of communication skills — listening, reading, speaking and writing — develops through a correlated study of language, literature and composition. Instruction in the proper usage of English grammar begins in the third grade and continues through the ninth grade. In the Upper School, main emphasis is placed on the study of literature and composition. Because the discipline of composition provides the student with the opportunity for organizing thought and expressing it effectively in writing, every class is geared to develop and refine English skills. As the Woodward student completes his senior year, he will have a mastery of all verbal and written communication skills.

1. All 10th graders study The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn winter quarter. 2. To write a term paper, Heather Huber spends long research hours in the library. 3. Lauren Rawlins is captivated by the suspense in her book. 4. Mrs. Cleo Hudson listens as a student gives his version of Chaucer's, The Miller's Tale. 5. Most Seniors like Chip Ezell and Nancy LeBey find their last year of English to be their longest. 6. Mr. Kevin Harkey sadly learns that many Juniors did not do their summer reading. 7. Mrs. Bobby Alford's composition class writes several themes a quarter.

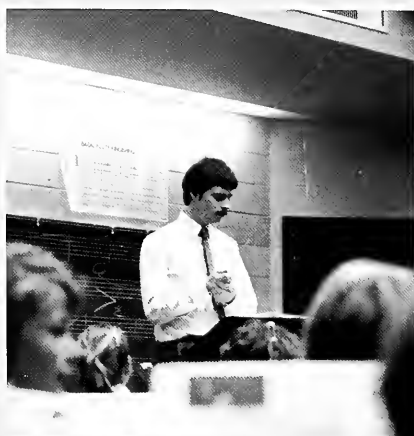

FINE ARTS

"Deep from within our fiery existence comes the musical essence of man."

"Art is that in which the hand, the head and the heart go together." John Ruskin

In addition to providing a strong academic background for students, Woodward Academy gives students wide exposure to the fine arts: visual and performing. The Visual Arts Department, headed by Mrs. Lane Fristoe, strives to give students exposure to and experience in drawing, painting, fabric design, jewelry design, printmaking, ceramics, photography and television production. The Performing Arts Department, chaired by Mr. Alan McClung, provides an opportunity to participate in various activities where students can display their talents in choral, band, dance and theater groups. By understanding and striving to meet the needs of each student, the Woodward Fine Arts Department is a stepping stone to the expanding visual and performing medias of the future.

1. Middle School band director Lauran Hunt prepares for rehearsal. 2. During a formal convocation, Kevin Brumlow, Darren Mitchell and the chorus sing the Woodward Alma Mater. 3. Dancers Meredith Fanning, Julianne Spratlin and Lauren Rawlins stretch before class begins. 4. Stage Manager Paige Brooks readies the set before a performance of Ah! Wilderness. 5. Cast members of A Thurbur Carnival warm up before a performance. 6. In jewelry design class Andrea Adair puts the final touches on her bracelet. 7. Lower School student John Cogburn glues his collage together in art class.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

"Apprendre une langue étrangère, c'est découvrir en même temps un pays, une histoire, une civilisation."

"To learn a foreign language is to discover, at the same time, a country, a history, a civilisation."

With English as the native language, the Foreign Language Department, headed by Mrs. Jean Olstin, strives to expose students to a wide variety of foreign languages. The department not only provides instruction in formal language communication skills, but also places special emphasis on the cultures of the countries where the languages are spoken. In order to graduate, students must complete two years of French, Latin, German, or Spanish. For students who enjoy and excel in a language, upper level courses are available in French and Spanish. The Foreign language curriculum permits students to expand their knowledge and usage of the languages of the world.

1. To properly learn a foreign language a student must concentrate. 2. Kevin Brumlow has found that Spanish requires a great deal of verbal repetition. 3. Even a French essay requires careful research as Susan Kim has discovered. 4. Miss Richardson gives detailed directions for a difficult Spanish test. 5. Mrs. Olstin allows only French to be spoken in class. 6. Mrs. Olstin's French class watches as she shows the difference between feminine and masculine gender of nouns. 7. Mrs. O'Neill listens as a student conjugates a verb in Spanish.

MATHEMATICS

"Mathematics is a creation of the human mind concerned primarily with ideas, processes, and reasoning. Mathematics encompasses the language of symbols and relations: the study of shape, size and space; the study of change, limits and infinity."

1. Mathematics is an essential element for success in the world. The Woodward Academy Mathematics Department, directed by Mrs. Mary H. Walker, instructs students to recognize and successfully complete various computations. There are many courses offered by the department with Pre-Algebra, Algebra I, Algebra II and Geometry being the core curriculum courses. Additional courses available for interested and qualified students include Advanced Algebra, Finite and Discrete Math, Pre-Calculus and Calculus. The department seeks to stimulate a curiosity into mathematics so that the student will enjoy exploring new ideas, learning mathematics and is motivated to continue this learning.

1. The two major tools of mathematics — a pencil and a calculator. 2. Jeff Wood works his math problem with the aid of a calculator and an eraser. 3. Many times Mr. Paul Myers will design on the computer math problems to be worked by his math team. 4. Mrs. Sandy Adamek shows her students that fractions are not as difficult as they seem. 5. Mr. Jeff Floyd uses his chalk to place emphasis on the concept he is explaining. 6. In tutorial, valuable extra help is given to Maria Brown and Stacy Feldmar by Mrs. Mary Walker, department chairman. 7. Renowned for his explanations that make word problems easy, Mr. Steve Reed takes his class slowly through a problem.

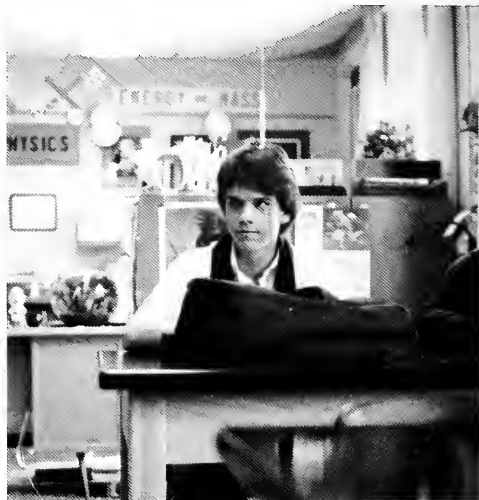

SCIENCE

"Teaching science, and more importantly, learning science, requires of teachers and students that application of mind that P.W. Bridgman described as "using one's mind, no holds barred." From the laboratory to the library, through classroom discussion, to work at home, success at science requires the best of one's thought."

The advances of science and scientific research have afforded the student the opportunity to truly study the world around him. The Woodward Academy Science Department, directed by Mr. Gus Dearolph, gives students an opportunity to develop their investigative skills and think rationally through the use of experimentation. Beginning in Kindergarten, simple science skills are introduced and enhanced as the student progresses through each grade level. The core curriculum of the Upper School requires students to take a year of biology and a year of chemistry in addition to one year of either physics, anatomy and physiology, earth and space science or oceanography. By providing students with such a wide range of concepts to consider, the department enables students to form strong scientific awareness of themselves and their environment.

1. Science is the study of all the experiences of the world. 2. To successfully understand the complexities of physics, Adam Gibson must take extensive notes. 3. Oceanography requires that students be proficient in correctly reading navigation charts and maps. 4. Miss Laura Babcock explains a complicated Physics question. 5. In order to comprehend a pre-chemistry concept, Tonya Williams asks Mrs. Gibson to clarify a point. 6. One of the South's foremost physicists, department chairman Gus Dearolph ponders the question of Chris Smith, David Malizia and Jeff Lynch. 7. Walter Ernest concentrates on a difficult test question.

SOCIAL STUDIES

"History is a glimpse of times and ages gone by, providing information so that the generations of the future may learn from the events of the past."

Everything that happens becomes history and is relevant to the understanding of society. The Woodward Academy Social Studies Department, headed by Mr. Bill Lineberry, provides students with the opportunity to study past events and to discuss history as it is presently being made. In the Lower and Middle Schools, students are given a basic understanding of peoples and their societies. The Upper School provides students with an in-depth study of political and social history in the core curriculum courses of Modern European and American History. Social Studies electives include Business Law, Economics, Psychology, and Accounting. The Social Studies Department strives to provide the student with a background with which to understand the forces which mold the modern world.

1. One of the most exciting classes at Woodward is Mr. Walter Monti's Law course. 2. Fran Tyler, Richie Tyler, and Mike Mason watch as students prepare to try a case in Mr. Monti's Law class. 3. Stephanie Lea, Kari Arnsen, Erin Brody, and Courtland Atkins study American government in the Lower School. 4. In Mr. Bill Lineberry's class, students learn the impact of political movements on American history. 5. Jeff O'Hara uses a map as resource material as he writes a theme on American westward expansion. 6. In European History, Stacey Ficzkow studies the dawn of the history of man. 7. Mr. Doug Fleming and Keith Gilstrap work together answering questions concerning the Embargo Act.

INDIVIDUALIZED STUDY PROGRAM

"To the questions of your life, you are the only answer. To the problems of your life, you are the only solution. The greater the obstacle, the more glory in overcoming it."

1 A unique facet of Woodward Academy's academic program offerings is the Individualized Study Program, directed by Mrs. Selma Ridgway. The program is implemented in all three schools and gives certain students specific and special academic attention. The Lower School classes are very small and select which enables teachers to place a special and concentrated emphasis on phonetics, reading and mathematical skills. The Middle School classes, also small, center on strengthening the student's learned skills of organization and note-taking. The Upper School ISP classes focus on completely remediating the student's learning disabilities which enable students to attend regular classes by their junior year. The ISP program is recognized as one of the foremost in the nation and continues to emphasize the excellence of the opportunities offered at Woodward.

1. In ISP Support, Miss Betsy Box spends many hours providing extra help. 2. Freshman Scott Curry learns that writing a theme will be much easier if he first makes out an outline. 3. Mrs. Susan Sanders answers a question Percy Stock had concerning a period of American History.

Physical Education

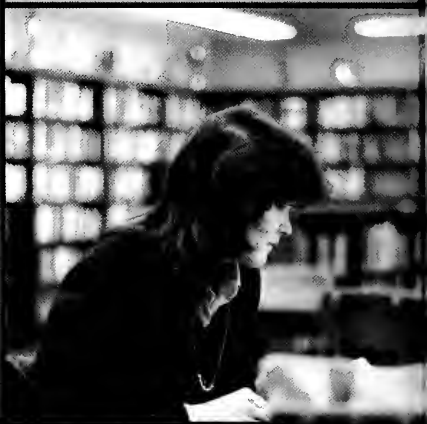

"Life produces endless competitions that demand the supreme physical effort. If you can set your heart upon the goal, not on the prize, and are motivated and willing to struggle, sweat and strive, you can succeed and win at all you attempt. This is the challenge, the pain — the joy of being human."

The Physical Education Department, directed by Coach Johnny Stallings, aims to give all students a chance to participate in various physical activities. All students are required to take P.E. courses throughout their years at the Academy. They may become involved in the intramural sports that are coordinated throughout the Academy or participate in the structured program of P.E. classes. The department aims at all times to give each student a chance to participate in various physical activities which not only aid in the physical development of a student, but also allows him to perfect his talents in physical endeavors. The department also teaches the student to appreciate the efforts required for team and individual sports and the necessary quality of good sportsmanship. By providing an outlet for physical aggression, the department helps students develop mental capabilities as well as physical awareness.

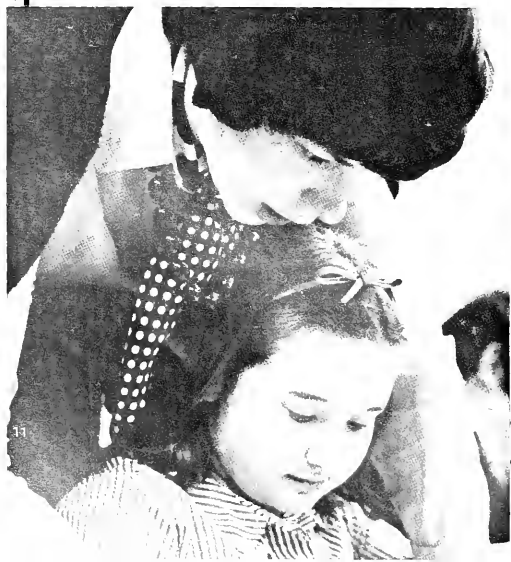

1. Because physical education is a required course, Billy McCarroll decided to take his P.E. classes his freshman year. 2. Coach Johnny Stallings explains exactly how he wants his P.E. class to run laps. 3. Intramurals at The Bussey School involve all kinds of activities and all kinds of students.

MEMORIES: The Way We Were

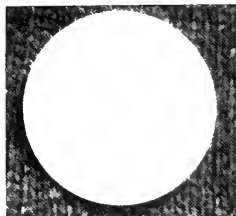

1. Ann Askew played Eve in an Academy Christmas production. 2. Michael Cheves studies his school work thoroughly. 3. Lisa Shatterly's career as a performer began early in her life. 4. Alonso Duralde spoke at a Christmas production. 5. Tim

Sullivan won a history contest. 6. Yes, the seniors of 1984 were once young middle school students. 7. Ginny Groover carefully listens to the instruction of her teacher. 8. Sheila Mobley and Lea Landers attend assembly in chapel. 9. Lance Owen enjoys himself during lunch. 10. Andrea Adair concentrates during art class. 11. Dameron Wilson has had many teachers including Mrs. Joanne Berry.

The 1984 Senior Superlatives represent only a fraction of the outstanding and unique individuals in the graduating class. These individuals were selected by their peers for their accomplishments in academics, athletics, arts and activities. Their personal standards uphold the Academy's longstanding tradition of excellence in education.

Woodward Academy begins the education process in the preschool and continues through the twelfth grade. Students who have attended the Academy since preschool or first grade belong to the exclusive Alpha and Omega Club. These students have earned the nickname "Vintage Eagles", and they are indicative of the quality of Woodward Academy students. The Academy's motto is "Every Opportunity For Every Student". Members of the Alpha and Omega Club are examples of this motto. The Vintage Eagles have taken active roles in all of the various programs at the Academy including academics, forensics, fine arts, journalism, student government and athletics. There are 28 students who have attended Woodward since first grade and of these students each one serves as a continuing example of Colonel John C. Woodward's dream of providing an education that would produce the characteristics of intelligence, responsibility and leadership within the individual. In other words, a basis for success.

"EAGLE" TISTICAL SENIORS CREATE A WINNING FLOAT

During Homecoming Weekend, the Woodward Academy Upper School held the second annual float competition. Striving to better last year's performance, the senior Class of 1984 "flew" to victory with their float, "The Eagle of 1984." The production of the winning float was a long, hard and complicated process. The eagle itself required a group effort to put it together. The float not only proved to be challenging, but gave seniors a chance to be together in a group activity that would represent the whole class. Great memories of the time spent working on the float will always be recalled — memories such as driving the float down Main Street in College Park at 5 miles per hour, hoping it wouldn't blow off the back of the truck, or what about money? ... who has a power saw? ... John's house ... the convalescent home ... who has plywood? ... I guess we'll use napkins ... who has a flat bed truck? ... NORCROSS!!!! ... the float's blowing away! ... Chris D. ... Didn't you use glue? ... the awesome float!!!!!! ... FIRST PLACE!!

The 1984 Senior Class Pays Tribute To Mr. David Ron McCollum

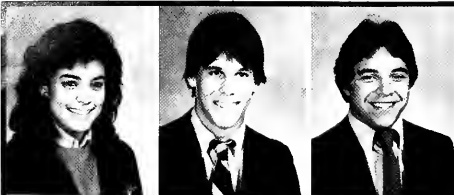

Each year the Senior Class selects the faculty or staff member who has contributed the most to the Senior Class. The members of the Class of 1984 selected Mr. David Ron McCollum to receive the Senior Tribute. Chaplain McCollum has been at Woodward Academy since 1979, serving as an Upper School Counselor as well as Chaplain for the entire Academy. Chaplain McCollum has played a significant role in the growth and maturity of the Senior Class, not only as a teacher and counselor, but also as a friend, spending an extensive amount of time with each of the 171 seniors. The Class of 1984 will always remember Rev. McCollum's meetings to discuss college plans, his advice on what was "cool" and "uncool", and the celebration with the seniors after winning the spirit stick at the pep rally. Most importantly, the seniors will remember Rev. McCollum as someone who cared, listened, and encouraged, making the Class of 1984 the best they could be. In response to his devotion and care, the Class of 1984 proudly expresses its love and gratitude to Chaplain Ron McCollum — the 1984 Senior Tribute.

Woodward Academy spirit is an outward and obvious expression of devotion and is supplemented by those things that register in the mind as "spirit". What is "Spirit?" It is Pep Rallies . . . eating cold hot dogs in the stands . . . wet bleachers . . . Pep Club . . . cheerleaders crowds on their feet at the National Anthem . . . the band at half-time . . . ribbons . . . buttons bonfire . . . red and white . . . Alumni at every game . . . tears when we lose . . . smiles when we win . . . The Spirit of Woodward.

A Glimpse Of An Era ...

The 1983 Homecoming Weekend proved to be an event full of excitement. Four weeks in advance, the four classes in the Upper School began preparing their Homecoming floats. On the Thursday night before Homecoming, each class assembled their floats near the front gate. Students then participated in a spirit-rallying bon fire held on the baseball field. On Friday, the Founder's Day Convocation was held, followed by the Varsity Football game against Troup County. During the pre-game show it was announced that the Seniors captured the trophy for the float contest with their "Bury the Tigers" theme. At halftime, representatives from each class were escorted onto the field to participate in the crowning of the Homecoming queen. The girls were dressed in costumes representing those dresses that were popular at Georgia Military Academy homecomings. The 1983 Homecoming Queen was Missy Brantley and the Maid of Honor was Jennie Oliver. The War Eagles went on to shut out Troup County 29-0 and gained first place in Region 3-AAA competition.

PUTTING ON THE

FOOD CRITIC — Scott Shaffer

One of the finest dining experiences in Atlanta is an unknown establishment on the Southside, Chez Young. In the same location for 84 years, Chez Young has delighted epicurean palates with creatively prepared meals. Always an artist in the kitchen, the Chez Young is well known for certain specialties that keep those familiar with his skills returning daily to partake of his feasts. The Chez Young is renowned for dishes such as the mouth watering date-nut bars, fine assorted breads, spaghetti, lightly seasoned with just a pinch of garlic, and a beautifully appointed salad bar. The Chez Young is open seven days a week, serving breakfast and luncheon. However, the greatest glory of the Chez Young is expressed at dinner when he serves a smaller, select crowd of food connoisseurs. The Chez Young is available for banquet services and the main feature of each gathering is his ice sculpture surrounded by delectable seafood. Always popular and always crowded, the Chez Young will remain a beloved memory of those fortunate enough to spend time in a very special place in College Park.

of Woodward Academy
cordially invites you to attend the Junior-Senior Prom
on Saturday, the fourteenth of May nineteen hundred and eighty-three from eight until twelve o'clock
Omni International Hotel
Atlanta, Georgia
Present this invitation for admission*

Sponsored by the Class of 1984, the 1983 Junior/Senior Prom was held on May 14, at the Omni International Hotel. Music was provided by The Surf, a local band, who kept prom goers dancing until midnight. Then Juniors, John Moss and Dodd Davis, were the MC's for the traditional senior walk. At this occasion, Woodward seniors and their escorts are introduced by couple, with each girl being presented with a long-stemmed rose. The Junior/Senior Prom is always an anticipated event which begins the Seniors final week as students of Woodward Academy.

The Class of 1983 graduated 170 seniors on May 21, 1983. Twenty-two of these seniors had been at Woodward Academy since first grade and each received the Ferguson Award. The Seniors of 1983 were lead by Steve McCune, Valectorian and recipient of the Graham Award and the Journal Cup. Julie Anne Probert, Salutorian, was awarded the Master Student Award. In addition to the above awards, there were 14 other awards given to select members of the Senior Class. The awards were for academic, athletic, artistic, citizenship and religious abilities. The Class of 1983 served as proud example of the accomplishments of Woodward Academy students.

A Twenty-Four Hour Experience

Boarding at Woodward Academy has been a part of the Woodward tradition since GMA began 84 years ago. Resident students represent many states and foreign nations and their life-styles tend to be somewhat different from the average day student. The Resident program saw many changes this year especially with the appointment of Mr. Howard Janke as Director of Resident Life. Woodward Hall dorm rooms were refurbished and Weltner/Evans courtyard was re-landscaped. Many weekend activities were planned by Mr. Janke and the dorm parents. Their activities included trips to Stone Mountain, the Atlanta Greek Festival, Octoberfest in Helen and Woodward sports events which took place off campus. The Resident life is made up of permits, study hours, signing in for breakfast, lights-out and messy rooms. It is a different existence from that of the "8 to 3" students, but it is a tradition fondly carried on by students willing to accept responsibility for their own actions and daily lives.

Rock Around The Clock

One of the highlights of fall quarter was "50's Day" Originally, 50's Day was planned as a theme for a pep rally, but as the idea spread, students and faculty planned to participate. Everyone came dressed in their version of everyday 50's wearing apparel, most of which had to be dug out of the backs of closets. The day was highlighted by a spirited pep rally reminiscent of 1955. The proceeds of the day went to the student activities fund which is used to help finance homecoming floats, buy special equipment for cheerleaders and pay for student dances held during the year.

1. Woodward students gathered around Doug Smyer's 1956 Chevy. 2. Stacey Holt and Jordan Bales were superb in their winning routine in the dance contest. 3. David Malizia dressed as someone from a 1950's motorcycle gang. 4. Pam Coleson and Ginger Andre were partners in a mock 50's day dance. 5. The Varsity Cheerleaders gave an outstanding performance as "spirited" cheerleaders.

Woodward 14, Westminster 7

In the 1983 opener, the Woodward Academy War Eagles met the Westminster Wildcats in their yearly matchup. Attempting to avenge their loss last season, the War Eagles played extremely well, showing signs of a promising season. The War Eagle defense held the Wilcat offense to very few yards, allowing the offense to take advantage of Westminster mistakes.

Woodward 21, Marist 31

The annual matchup between the Woodward War Eagles and the Marist War Eagles was a well fought battle; however, Woodward fell to a bigger, more experienced team. Jesse Spears got Woodward on the board by making a long 55 yard run late in the first half, making the score 21-7. Woodward pulled closer to 21-13 only to have fumbles cause the offensive attack to fall apart. The Woodward War Eagles closed the game with a valiant three yard touchdown run by Jimmy Witherspoon in the last 23 seconds of the game.

Woodward 7, Fulton 12

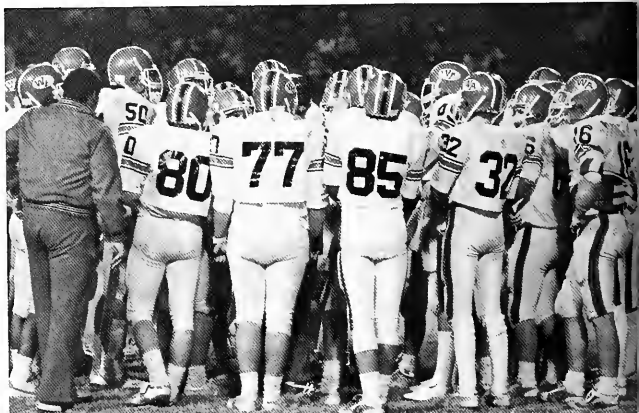

The War Eagles met the Fulton Red Birds at Colquitt Stadium in hopes of avenging their loss last year. Fulton was able to capitalize on Woodward's mistakes and take a 12-0 lead until late in the fourth quarter. At this point the War Eagles gained momentum when Ricky Lane scored from 2 yards out. Woodward recovered an on-side kick giving them good field position. The War Eagles drove to the 6 yard line where Fulton tightened up and Woodward's hopes of a comeback win were foiled.

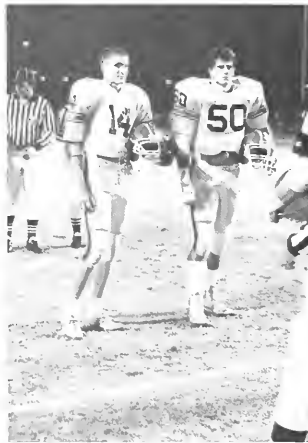

Woodward 14, George 7

Jumping to a 7-0 lead in the first quarter, George obtained the only points that the Woodward defense would yield. An intercepted pass by Jesse Spears late in the fourth quarter enabled the War Eagles to take the lead that would never change. Jimmy Witherspoon continued his roll by again adding many yards to Woodward's total offense.

"All good things must come to an end, and our team was definitely a good thing."

Will Jones

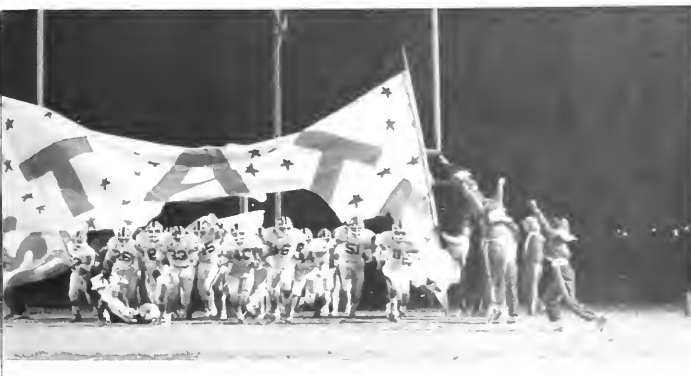

Woodward 7, Lovett 10

Woodward Academy fell 2-3 on the season by losing to the Lovett Lions 10-7 in the last non-region game of the year. Costly fumbles and turnovers enabled the Lions to take a 10-0 lead at the half. The War Eagles once again retaliated late in the game only to be stopped 15 yards shy of victory.

Woodward 14, Harris Co. 7

In Woodward Academy's 4-AAA West opener, Woodward defeated Harris County 14 to 7 in a hotly contested battle. Jim Witherspoon scored on a pass from Quarterback Will Jones early in the second quarter to give the War Eagles a 7-0 halftime lead. Midway through the fourth period Chris Turner returned a punt 65 yards for the touchdown to secure the win.

Woodward 14, M.D. Collins 0

The Woodward War Eagles travelled to Garwood Stadium to meet the M.D. Collins Cougars in what has been, in the past, a hotly contested battle. The War Eagles were, however, able to capitalize on the Cougar's mistakes. The defense continued to hold back the Collins offense attack. Jimmy Witherspoon continued to run exceptionally well, tightening the strong hold of Woodward's offensive effort.

Woodward 12, McIntosh 16

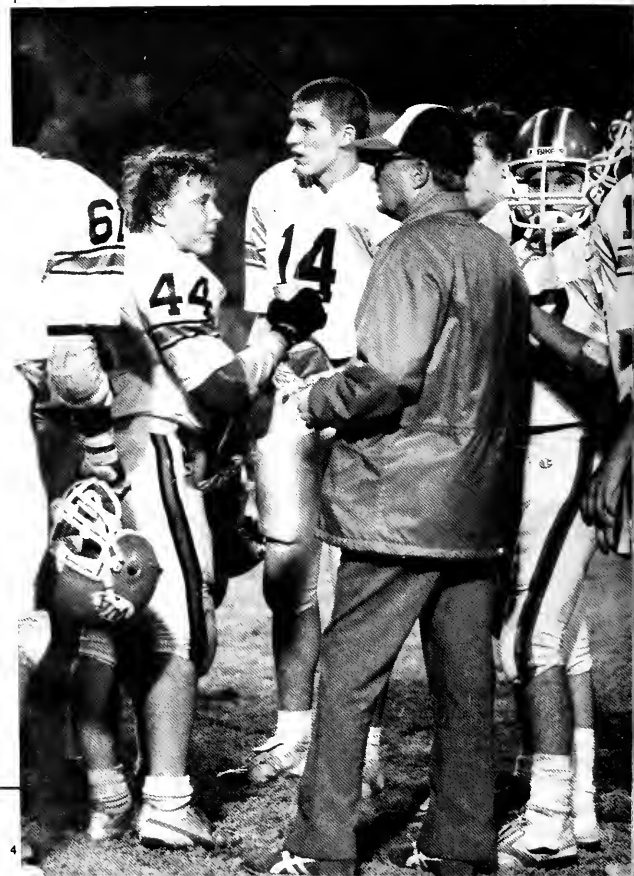

After the defiant victory the week before, the War Eagles took the field confident of victory. The defense and offense worked together as one unit against the McIntosh Chiefs. The War Eagles turned the Chiefs back from the one yard line with outstanding defensive efforts of Jeff Miller, Will Jones and Chip Ezell. The offense was able to score in critical times by excellent blocking from offensive stronghold Chip Ezell and Cliff Daniels. Jimmy Witherspoon and Chris Turner both had interceptions in the victory.

Woodward 28, Troup 0

In the deciding game of the 4-AAA South division, the War Eagles soundly defeated the Troup Tigers before an excited Homecoming crowd. Three interceptions by Jeff Miller enabled the offense to score points. Clinching the sub-region, the War Eagles would now look toward Woodland and the playoffs in hopes of their goal to be state champions.

Woodward 21, Woodland 14

In the last regular season game, the War Eagles faced the Woodland Warriors in preparation for the next week's playoff game. The Warriors came well prepared with a very effective rushing attack. They combined the pass with the run to find holes in the Warriors defense. However in the end, defensive efforts of Jeff Miller as well as Will Jones combined to shut down the Warriors. Ricky Lane had a great night running the ball and accounted for many of Woodward's total yards. Jesse Spears had runs of 63 yards and 20 yards adding to the total offensive efforts.

Woodward 41, Stockbridge 0

In the first round of the playoffs, the War Eagles faced Stockbridge in what was sighted to be a close game. The War Eagles, however, had different ideas about the outcome. The defense continued to shut down all offensive drives of Stockbridge and soundly defeated them 41-0. Woodward's best offensive game yet enabled the War Eagles to advance to the region finals.

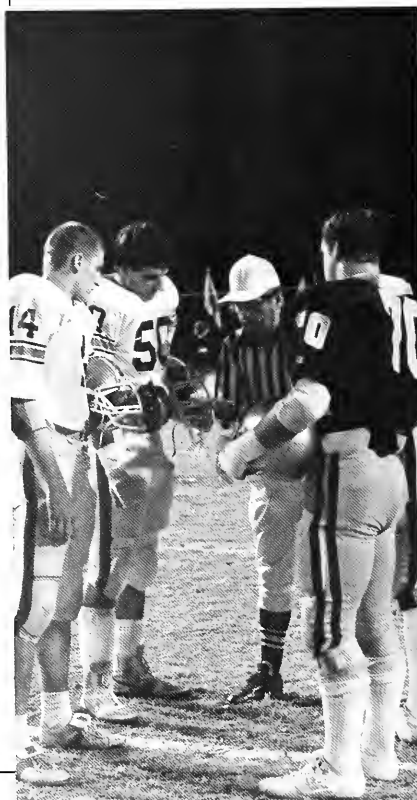

Woodward 10, Lithonia 0

After destroying Stockbridge, the War Eagles faced the Lithonia Bulldogs. The defense demonstrated power by allowing Lithonia less than 10 yards. During the whole first half neither team was able to score. A field goal by Brian Witkofsky late in the game, clinched the region championship for the second year in a row.

Woodward 10, Glen Hills 14

Closer to state but not able to reach it, the Woodward War Eagles fell short of their goal, losing to the Glenn Hills Spartans. The game was an offensive and defensive battle with neither team gaining an edge over the other. All through the game, the War Eagles came close to scoring another touchdown. With time running out, they were not able to penetrate the goal line for victory.

1. Looking toward the sideline, Jeff Miller gets the signal for the next defensive play. 2. Jimmy Witherspoon attempts to break a tackle to gain more yardage. 3. Ricky Lane breaks for the sideline to run for another touchdown. 4. JV/NINTH CHEERLEADERS

Captain Stacy Trammel and Co-Captain Ana Parajon helped organize a group of enthusiastic J.V. Cheerleaders. Sponsored by Mrs. Becky Rogers, the squad cheered the J.V. team to a 5-2 record. While aiding the varsity girls at games and pep-rallies, the J.V. squad's spirit culminated in an enthusiastic year.

Lead by Captain Kristin Thorp, the Ninth grade cheerleaders showed enthusiasm, spirit and support for the team as well as aiding in pep rallies and at varsity games. Receiving a spirit award, the Ninth grade squad should supply motivation needed in future years of Woodward football.

MIDDLE SCHOOL CHEERLEADERS DRILL TEAM LOWER SCHOOL CHEERLEADERS

Under the direction of Mrs. Janie Routledge, the Middle School cheerleaders added spirit and entertainment to the 7th and 8th grade football games. This experience will add to the quality of future cheerleading squads at the Academy.

Performing often during half time, the Middle School Drill Team supplied entertainment for spectators at each of the 7th and 8th grade games. Lead by sponsor Mrs. Diane Rawlins, the squad strived for excellence at every move.

The Lower School cheerleaders added spirit to lower school football games. Under the direction of Mrs. Sandra Barfield, the cheerleaders perfected many cheers and chants which lead the Lower School football teams onto victory.

CROSS COUNTRY

The Woodward Cross Country team, coached by veteran runner Errol Sanders, began practice early fall quarter. Returning runners did well in meets such as the Berry Invitational, West Georgia Invitational, Dunwoody Invitational and meets at the Al Bishop Complex in Marietta. Senior David Hubbard continued his winning streak by placing fifth in the region, and rising leader Mark Thompson ended his season as ninth in the region. The lady runners, led by Amy Wendt, who placed third in the region, and Dana Jefferson, had a successful first season.

SOFTBALL

The 1983 Woodward Girls Softball team, coached by Elaine Carroll and Rusty Zaring, had an excellent season. For the first time, the team participated in a pre-season tournament in which they won second place. The season ended with a record of 9 wins and 6 losses. The team was lead by six seniors, Sheila Childers, Debbie Newman, Margie Mock, Sandra Dotson, Angie Dacar, and Karen Mallard. Other leaders who will be returning next year are Paula Kammerer, Lane Neely, Terri Farmer, Nicole DeWeese, Tammy Behrens, Tricia Francis, Tara Emerson, and Stacey Phillips. Overall, the team was strong both in defense and offense.

VOLLEYBALL

The girls varsity volleyball team had an impressive year. Under the leadership of Mrs. Claire Adams, the girls started the year with four straight wins. The hopes of a prosperous season were, however, clipped when the team lost many close matches. The team did, however, take all the matches into the final quarter before losing. Outstanding players were Susannah Suddath and Kelly Dowdy — named to the All-Star Tournament Team.

VARSITY BOYS BASKETBALL

Under the leadership of new Coach Raleigh Pastrick, the Woodward boys basketball team had one of the best seasons in many years. With talent such as seniors Will Jones, Chris Turner, David Greene and Danny Greene, the team was able to beat many formidable opponents. Many of the games they lost were by very narrow margins, some occurring in overtime periods. They continued, however, to show spirit as well as commitment toward a positive goal, and a constant strive toward victory.

The 1983-84 Girls Varsity Basketball team concluded one of its most successful seasons ever with an 18-4 win/loss record. The girls lost four regular season games by a total of seven points. First year Head Coach Doug Brantley brought renewed interest into the program and challenged seniors Margie Mock, Sheila Childers and Sandra Dotson to lead the team. All seniors and lower classmen met the challenge with a great amount of intensity and desire to successfully gain the admiration of all students at Woodward, as well as the respect of all region opponents. Members of the squad were: Margie Mock, Sheila Childers, Sandra Dotson, Rhonda Goldsmith, Paula Kammerer, Denise Kitchings, Tammy Behrens, Dee Cardell, Letitia Plummer, Gretchen Barron, Terri Farmer, Debbie Grist, Brooke Adamek and Angie Stallings.

JV/NINTH BASKETBALL

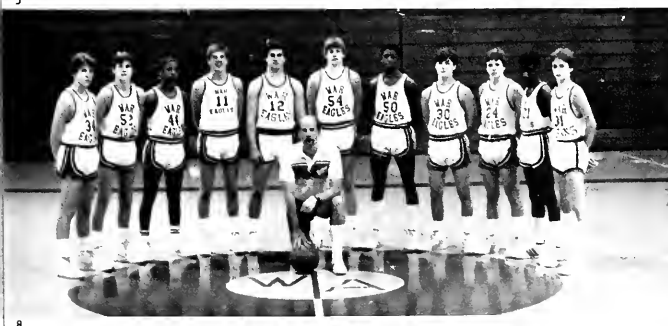

The Junior Varsity Boys Basketball team, coached by Mr. Dave Chandler, finished the season with an overall record of 9 and 6. Although the games were close, the losses were a learning process for the young team. The War Eagles were lead by Brian Witkofsky, Randy Geohagen, Mike Wells.

According to Coach Doug Brantley, there are many bright spots in the future of Girls Basketball. The Junior Varsity Girls, coached by Ms. Mike Frankhouser, ended with an amazing 14-2 record for the year. The records and the strong support given by faculty and parents are the ingredients for a successful future in girls basketball.

The Ninth Grade Basketball team completed a successful season with a 5-5 record. Highlighting a vastly improved team effort were victories over rivals Marist, Westminster and McIntosh, and close losses to Newton County, Westminster and Point South. The J.V. and Varsity competition will continue to improve as these talented freshmen move on to higher levels in the Woodward Academy basketball program.

MIDDLE LOWER BUSEY BASKETBALL

The Middle School boys basketball team under the direction of Coach Notestine had a good season with a 7 and 8 record. The team was led in scoring by Todd Dunlevie who averaged over 10 points a game. Kenny Spears, Clay Smith and Chris Harris also made major contributions to this year's squad.

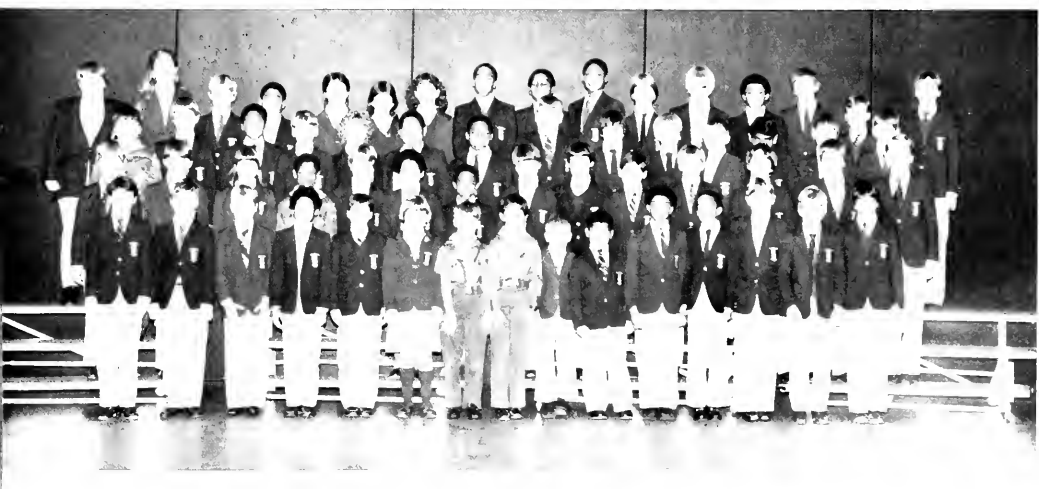

A record number of girls participated in the 1983-84 Middle School Basketball program. This interest prompted the establishment of two teams coached by Mike Deis and Scott Crook. Making up for a shortage of wins, these young athletes played with great enthusiasm and a willingness to learn the basics of winning basketball. Certainly with some off-season work at home and at camp, these girls will become assets to WA's varsity program.

JV WRESTLING

The Junior Varsity Wrestling team was composed of several new, enthusiastic and inexperienced wrestlers who worked hard to learn the fundamentals of wrestling and gain valuable mat experience under the tutelage of Coach Steve Reed. This season's schedule included Westminster, Fayette County, Russell, Campbell-Fairburn, Feldwood, Marist, LaGrange, Henry County and Palmetto. The Junior War Eagle grapplers emerged with a 4-4 team record and produced several prospective varsity wrestlers for next season.

The J.V.'s were led by War Eagle J.V. Invitational Champions Young Lee (98 lbs.) and Jerry Lacy (105 lbs.), south Metro J.V. runner-up David Srochi (145 lbs.), Steve Cochran (138 lbs.), Doug Rooker (126 lbs.), Brent Carter (145 lbs.), Patrick Bussenius (155 lbs.), John Bradford (175 lbs.), John Bradley (132 lbs.), Mike Strickland (132 lbs.), Mickey Flynn (138 lbs.) and Alan Josey (112 lbs.). Freshmen David Dinnerstein, Mike Gimbel and Matt Strickland alternated to fill the lower weight classes.

MIDDLE, LOWER AND BUSEY WRESTLING

The Middle School Wrestling team ran their six year unbeaten string to 56 victorious matches before falling two short of the National Middle School record of 58 late in the season. Led by Coaches Barry Barron and Cliff McGaughey, the Middle School wrestlers finished the year with an 8-1 record, 57-1 overall, and also captured their sixth consecutive Junior Chattahoochee Conference tournament championship by 27 points over nearest rival Lovett. Lovett had defeated the young War Eagles a week earlier 35-29 to end their undefeated streak.

John Miles (17-0) led the team in individual victories and won his third straight conference championship. Keith Johnston, Tres McGaughey, Chad Darnell, Clayton Cole, George Jordan, Patrick Pridgen, David Linder, Tripper Corrick, Lorin Cushman, Steve Brostrom, Todd Spencer and Scott Greer all wrestled first team and contributed to the team's outstanding accomplishments.

SWIMMING AND DIVING

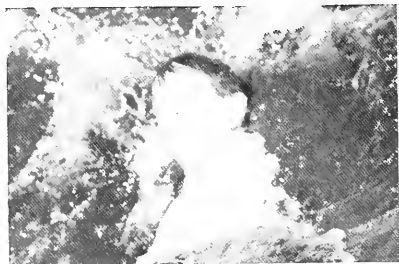

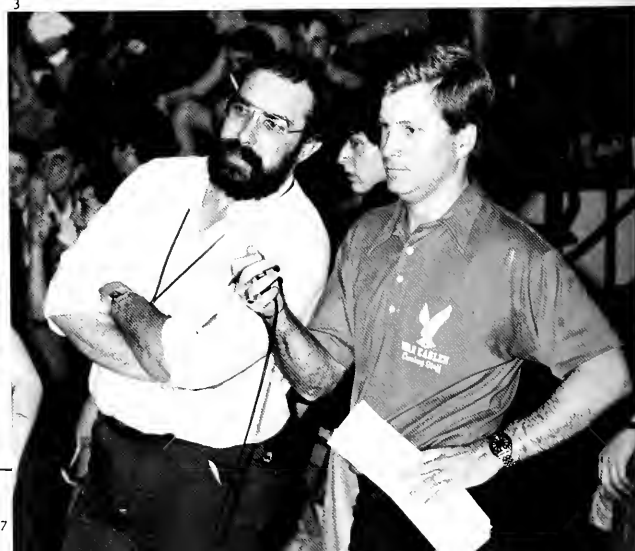

Woodward Academy Boys and Girls swim team had a very impressive season with a record of 5 and 1. The Eagles were able to compete and contend in many different areas of the sport. With fine swimmers such as Mike Shehee, Otis Blake, Dixon Soracco, Sandy Scoggins, Whitney Troope, and Andrew Stith, the team was able to place well in many of the meets that they participated in this year. Coach Greaney instructed and put together just another example of the fine sports tradition at Woodward Academy.

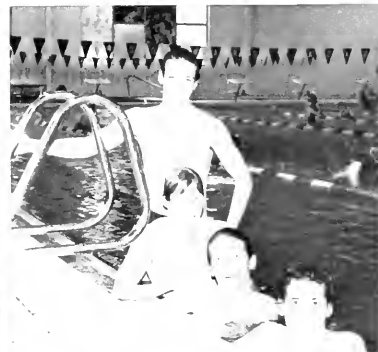

Practicing with the swim team, the diving team also had a good showing this year. Led by senior Tricia Vanderslice the team worked for perfection with every dive and maneuver.

1. While his brother gives him moral support, Dixon Soracco prepares for the race. 2. As Jenny Pickett reaches the finish line, she is cheered on by her team mates. 3. Tricia Vanderslice prepares for her dive, by maintaining concentration and balance. 4. BOYS SWIMMING TEAM: FIRST ROW — Sam Kuron, John Howe, Scott Wiltsee, Ben Johnson, Rob Hodges, Andrew Stith, Blake Boston, David Steele, Andy Lambath, Brent Lamberg. MIDDLE, LOWER AND BUSEY SCHOOL

The Middle, Lower and Busey School soccer programs provided experience for students who wished to participate in a competitive athletic program. The Lower and Busey School programs taught the young athletes the basic skills that they will refine as they continue to play. The Middle School soccer programs applied these skills by giving the players a chance to play in actual games. Both programs aid in the continuing future success of the Varsity Soccer program by developing talents and skills in young soccer players.

1. A Middle School player calls to a team mate before passing the ball. 2. The Middle School team learn the strategies of ball-stealing. 3. BASEBALL

With returning players Ricky Lane, Greg Spence, David Greene, Danny Greene, and Jeff Pierce, the Varsity Baseball team came back strong from an intensive spring practice in Florida. Playing a rough, difficult season, the War Eagles, under the capable leadership of experienced seniors and juniors such as the Greenes, Pierce, Spence, and Higgins, ended their playing season with a strong impressive finish. Led by Coaches Jim Minor and Rusty Zaring, the team presented another successful season of Woodward baseball.

1. Always "fleet of foot," Danny Greene successfully steals third base. 2. Senior Greg Spence fields a ball to get the runner out at first base. 3. As the opposing runner attempts to steal the base, David Greene prepares to tag him out. 4. VARSITY BASEBALL TEAM — Coach Rusty Zaring, Mark Russo, Mark Miller, Scott Aldredge, Mike Wells, Danny Greene, Steve Faulkner, Greg Spence, David Greene, Jeff Higgins, Jeff Pierce, Brian Witkowsky, Mgr. GOLF

With returning players such as John Moss, David Malizia, John Wagner, Butch Hill and Britt Matthiessen, the Varsity Golf team had a select, strong team. After two excellent past seasons, the Golf team, coached by Dr. Chuck Hixon, prepared for another season of quality play in tough region tournaments. With the growth of the Junior Varsity golf program, Woodward is assured of continuing War Eagle teams.

1. Senior John Moss rockets the ball out of the sand trap during tournament action. 2. As any professional golfer would do, David Malizia follows through on his swing. 3. Watching every minute, John Moss watches his ball soar down the fairway. 4. VARSITY GOLF TEAM: FIRST ROW — Mr. Michael Brown, John Wagner, John Moss, Mr. Danny White, BACK ROW — Britt Matthiessen, David Malizia, Thomas Roddy, Butch Hill, Coach Chuck Hixon. 5. A stroke that takes intense concentration, John Moss putts for a birdie. 6. David Malizia practices his swing during golf practice. 7. "In golf, practice enables you to win, where you have to make every shot count."

David Malizia

TENNIS

Defending region champions, the boys and girls Varsity Tennis teams worked hard to retain their titles. Led by Senior Matt McGuire, the boys team eliminated all opposition. Coach Howard Janke guided survivors of the tryouts through a grueling early spring practice which culminated in another region battle. The girls team, coached by Miss Ellen Lanier, led the Lady War Eagles to their third region matches. With the experience provided by returning champs such as Tracy Behrens, Karen Mallard and Kristi Eubanks, the girls team was tough competition for those teams that came up against Woodward's region champs.

Art

Selection of students in the National Art Honor Society is based upon art scholarship, service, and character. The purpose of the society is to recognize students who have shown outstanding ability in art, and further creative abilities and talents of the society's members. The society strives to bring art to the attention of the school and community and to increase an awareness of art in relation to other areas of the school curriculum. The 1983-84 Woodward chapter was sponsored by Mrs. Lane Fristoe. The main activity of the society is "Experience the Arts Day" in spring quarter. Other events included art exhibits in Richardson Gallery, individual service projects, and a GAIS exhibit at the annual convention held at The Westminster Schools. Also, the society participated in the 2nd annual independent schools exhibit in Woodruff Arts Center.

French

The National French Honor Society is a select group of students who show academic excellence and exceptional interest in the French language. Eligibility is based on academic achievement for the first two years and the first quarter of third year French. The activities for the year included an initiation dinner for the new members at a french restaurant, attending French plays or movies, sponsoring French speakers, and an end of the year French style picnic. Mrs. Bunny Renkin sponsored the 1983-84

French Honor Society and the officers were co-presidents Ann Askew and Michelle Chance.

National

The Randolph W. Thrower chapter of the National Honor Society is one of the most selective organizations at Woodward Academy. The purpose of this club is to recognize superior scholarship, leadership, character and service among juniors and seniors, and membership is by invitation only based on these criteria. Advised by Mr. Roger Sloan, the National Honor Society holds formal convocation in February when new members to the society are inducted. It also conducts the annual honors banquet held in May each year. Officers for the society were: President, Matt McGuire; Vice-President, Pam Coleson, and Secretary-Treasurer, Becky Benton

Spanish

The National Spanish Honor Society is an organization of students who have done outstanding work in the understanding of the Spanish language. Members must have a B average or better. Advised by Mrs. Elaine O'Neill, the Spanish Honor Society's purpose is to encourage excellence in the study of Spanish and continued interest in the Spanish language and culture. The main event of this year was the induction of new members in a chapel ceremony in which the members lit candles and stated the oath.

Other events of the year included a trip to Spanish restaurants and to celebrate different festivities and holidays. The officers of the Spanish Honor Society were: President, Brian Poe; Vice President, Julie Pausa; and Secretary, Marta Rossi.

Service Clubs

Interact

The Interact Club is a service organization working to help the school and the community. The Interact Club helped the Red Cross by holding two Blood Drives during the school year. The club also made donations to several charities and sponsored "Cash-for-Trash". The club was sponsored by Mrs. Joanne Baker. The officers of the club included President, Joseph Brown; Vice President, Charles Edmunds; Secretary, Jeff Wood; and Treasurer, Orlando Cano.

Key

The Key Club, the junior organization of Kiwanis International, is an organization formed to help others in the community. Sponsored by Miss Martha Muir, Key Club helped in College Park's Convalescent home Christmas party by visiting patients, singing carols, and giving away cards and goodies. Also the group distributed Halloween-O-Grams and helped with Kiwanis' Club luncheons. During the winter the Key Club sold flowers on Valentine's day to raise money. Officers for 1983-84 were; President, Amy Carter; Mary Ann McClurkin, Secretary; Gayle Galvez, Vice-President; and Chris Smith, Treasurer.

FCA

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes, consisting of 182 members, is one of Woodward Academy's strongest clubs. The purpose of this club is to promote Christian ideals on the high school level. The sponsor, Mr. Petty F. Ezell, planned a Fall retreat to Helen, Georgia where the club had numerous devotion services and song sessions. A Spring retreat to South Georgia was also planned. FCA met twice monthly with guest speakers and huddle sessions. The officers were: President, Dodd Davis; Vice-President, Danny Greene; Secretary, Chris Buttrill; and Membership Chairman, David Hubbard.

Discipline Board/Honor Council

Discipline Board

The Discipline Committee consisted of three members of the faculty, Walter Monti, Carolyn Haldeman, and Steve Reed, elected by the Governing Board, and twelve seniors appointed by President Gary M. Jones. The committee held boards when serious disciplinary cases occurred that might have resulted in suspension or dismissal of a student. The entire committee, by a majority vote, determined the innocence or guilt of a student but only the faculty members, in an executive session, determined punishment.

Honor Council

The purpose of the Honor Council, advised by Missy Sanchez, was to uphold the high standard of conduct expected from students of Woodward Academy. The council dealt with cases of student lying cheating or stealing, meeting on confidential basis with the student. Members of the Honor Council were caliber students recommended by members of the faculty and staff. Members of the Council included President Matt McGuire, and Secretary Nancy Howard

Hunger Task Force/Science/Science-Fiction Clubs

Hunger Task Force

Under the direction of Kevin Harkey, the Hunger Task Force was an organization developed to provide Woodward students with the opportunity to be part of the solution of hunger in our community and our world. The most important activity of the year was Hunger Awareness Day in December. On that day, students agreed to give up their lunches so that the money for the food could be used to feed the hungry. Six hundred and twenty-five students and faculty participated in this successful special event. The Hunger Task Force also conducted a canned food drive. Approximately 1500 pounds of canned goods were collected and delivered to the Atlanta Food Bank. Among other events, the members of the Hunger Task Force conducted a trip to a local "soup kitchen" to help serve meals to the hungry and experience relief efforts first hand.

Science Club

The Science Club was a new organization for those students interested in the sciences and those who wished to experience as many areas of science as possible. Under the direction of advisor Martha Muir, the Science Club participated in a wide variety of activities, such as the State Science Bowl, and the Georgia Junior Academy of Science. They visited several scientific resources in the Atlanta area, and sent members to the Women In Science Conference. A subgroup of the club was a member of Gamma Chi Epsilon which is the State honor society for Science. The highlight of the year was the club's presence at the launch of the Space Shuttle and visit to Epcot. Faculty involvement included Mr. Dearolph, Mrs. Gibson, Miss Babcock, Mrs. Carroll and Mr. Howick as heading one or more committees. Officers of the club included President Jin-Kyung Han, Vice-Presidents Jennifer Whatley, Vinay Desai, Rena Craig, Sally Smith. The Treasurer was Lisa Henry, the Secretary was Susan Kim and Scrapbook Editor was Beverly Banks.

Science Fiction Club

Although established only this year, the Science Fiction Club had a strong year. Led by advisor George McKelvy, the clubs purpose was to learn about science, science fiction and fantasy through various activities throughout the year. The year began with role playing games and as the club grew, it was invited to Dixie-Trek '84, a Science-Fiction Convention at Oglethorpe University. The future plans of the club include a trip to the tenth annual seaga '84 Atlanta Gaming Festival in June. Officers of the club were President Charles Edmunds and Jeff O'Hara, Vice-President.

Debate Team/Math Team/French Club

Debate Team

One of the most prestigious clubs on campus, the Debate Team once again brought awards and honor home to Woodward Academy. Directed by Cleo Hudson and Ron Walker, the debate program instilled the qualities of self-discipline and dedication in its members. Because of the intense dedication of team members, the Varsity established itself among the very best in the state, region and now the nation. The experienced varsity team won more than 70% of their rounds in major tournaments and competed against the nations top debate teams at national tournaments at Wake Forest, West Georgia, Mercer University and Northwestern University. The Junior Varsity/Novice debaters had a successful season in that they won more than 80% of rounds and had several 1st place finishes. The debate team attended workshops during the summer for two four-week periods and also attended a four-day mini workshop for Woodward debaters held on campus the week prior to the opening of school. The teams also sponsored and hosted the Woodward Academy Invitational Forensics Tournament attended by 400 debaters from fifty schools. The teams also participated in The Barkley Forum and State competition in February and District qualifications for Nationals.

Math Team

The Woodward Academy Varsity and Junior Varsity Math Teams experienced another year of hard work and successful meets. With the coaching of Mr. Paul Meyers and Mrs. Nancy Bunker, the two teams received several awards from major tournaments. The two teams also hosted their second annual Math Tournament which was held on Woodward's campus. The tournament brought over 60 schools to Woodward.

French Club

New to the Academy this year, Le Cercle Français, the French Club, with advisor Buny Renkin, gave students in second year French and higher a chance to enjoy the French culture. People who have personally visited France told of their experiences there in order to help other members get an idea of what France is like. At Christmas the club held a party where members joined in a French caroling session. Also planned were trips to see French movies.

Student Government Association

The Student Government Association's most important function is to keep the students in touch with the administration. The SGA is students who have been elected by the student body in the spring quarter and serve until the end of the following winter quarter. The students present ideas, suggestions and comments to the administration and work to implement Academy policies. They serve as the voice of the entire Upper School student body. Under the supervision of Mr. Ron McCollum, the SGA sponsors such activities as the Junior-Senior Prom, and Senior Week. As well as several dances during the year. The main event of the year is Homecoming Week where each class presents a lawn display which has become an annual tradition on campus.

The Blade/WATV/Silent Voices

The Blade

The 1983-84 Blade was sponsored by Mrs. Bobby Alford, Chairman of the English Department. The Blade, a student publication, covered activities and events through the eyes of the students. There were five issues this year covering general news topics and features. The final issue was the 18 page Senior Issue delivered on Commencement Day. The Editors were Alonso Duralde, Chief Editor, Kelly Dowdy, Sports Editor, Editorial Insight Editor, Andrew Shoemaker, Features Editor, Christine Rodgers, Cartoonist, Nancy Rothenburg, and Dixon Soracco, Photographer. The general staff consisted of Ann Askew, Becky Benton, Nancy Howard, Mike Mason, Lisa Merritt, Sheila Mobley, Jay Ouderkirk, Brian Russo, and Francoise Tyler.

spent many hours preparing the daily morning broadcast of the "Newsource." The "Newsource," a live in-house news format program, was produced by a crew of 15 Upper School Students. These students arrived early each morning and devoted many lunch and free periods to aid in the production of special features and news topics. The work done by these students gives them a chance to gain practical experience in the technical and creative aspects of video production.

Silent Voices

Woodward's literary magazine, Silent Voices is the creative outlet of Upper School students. Advised by Mrs. Carolyn Haldeman, and Mr. Kevin Harkey, Silent Voices is a collection of student literary expression. Co-editors Nancy Howard and Ann Askew worked with submitted poems, songs, essays, short stories, drawings and photographs to form a published collage of student literary achievements.

Band/Eaglettes/Majorettes

Robert W. Woodruff Band

The Robert W. Woodruff Band, under the leadership of Director Charles Brodie, entertained football spectators, helped to keep spirit up at pep rallies and presented two concerts during the school year. The band participated in Atlanta's Christmas parade for Eggleston. This small but dedicated group of talented musicians began work in the summer, learning and practicing new songs and half-time routines. After football season, the band immediately began work to prepare for the Christmas Concert and festival performances. This year the Woodruff band went on the May Spring Tour and presented the Spring concert. This year's band officers were President Harold Waldrop and Vice-President Todd Warner.

Eaglettes

The Woodward Academy Eaglettes provided entertainment during half-time at the War Eagle football games. Through hard work and dedication, the drill team, together with the band, made half-time programs exciting. Beginning with tryouts in the spring of the year, the Eaglettes spent a long summer practicing new routines. Their performances were not limited to only football games as the Eaglettes marched in Atlanta's Christmas Parade for Eggleston Hospital. The teams sponsor was Kristine Sparks and officers were Captain Jennifer Fahey and Co-Captain Tracy Crockett.

Majorettes

The Majorette Squad was another important facet of the half-time program. Requiring skill, time and precision, the majorettes began practice immediately after spring tryouts. They practiced all summer with the band and drill team, perfecting complicated routines. Also sponsored by Kristine Sparks, the officers were Traci Bell, Head Majorette and Wendi McClendon, Assistant. This year the majorettes marched in Atlanta's Christmas parade for Eggleston Hospital.

Festival Chorale/Festival Singers

Festival Chorale

Under the direction of Mr. Alan McClung, the Festival Chorale has become one of the most distinguished and recognized student performing groups in the South. An auditioned group of 100 singers in grades nine through twelve, the Festival Chorale was formed for the purpose of making and learning about music. Because of the excellence of their abilities, the Chorale was selected to perform for the Southern division of The American Chorale Directors Association. The highlight of the Christmas season was the group's acclaimed performance of Menotti's operetta, Amahl and the Night Visitors. The Chorale begins their year with a working retreat. This year at the retreat the Chorale was presented with new robes and stoles. The Chorale also participated in District Choral Festival, Spring Tour and the Spring Concert. The Chorale was administered by a Chorale Council headed by President Jeff Spratlin and Vice Presidents Jay Tedder and Jeff Higgins.

Festival Singers

Directed by Mr. Alan McClung, the Festival Singers performed music from various eras. This auditioned group was made up of 31 advanced musicians in grades ten through twelve, and performed music on a more difficult level than the schools other choral groups.

Dance

Dance Ensemble

The Woodward Academy Dance Ensemble gave talented dance students the opportunity to use skills learned in the classroom. The Ensemble was exposed to the theater environment by working as a group and served as a creative outlet for dancers interested in choreography. Under the direction of professional dancer and teacher, Patricia Shaw, the Ensemble brought quality dance to Woodward Academy. The activities of the year included a benefit fund raiser, performing in Amahl and the Night Visitors, "A Thurber Carnival," Spring trip to New York City and participation in the Performing Arts Festival.

Ah Wilderness!/Amahl And The Night Visitors

Three-Act and Christmas operetta

This year's Three Act Play, Ah Wilderness!, directed by Scott Perkins, was a production of Eugene O'Neil's comedy of home and family life set in 1906 Connecticut, with a sympathetic look towards the follies of mankind. Members of the cast included David Epps as Nat Miller, Mary Smith as the Mother, Essie Miller. Arthur was played by sophomore Tim Holt, the character Richard was portrayed by Greg Kaiser.

For the first time, the Woodward Academy Performing Arts Department presented Menotti's Christmas operetta, Amahl and the Night Visitors. To begin the evening, the concert band and the string ensemble performed, followed by intermission in which small choral groups which sang Christmas carols in the gallery as the audience drank hot wassail. The part of Amahl was played by eighth grader Wayne Bunker and Senior Marie Dalton as a dual role. The roles of the three kings and the page were played by Jay Tedder, Jeff Higgins, Randy Geohagan and Kevin Brumlow. Zanice Muckler, a private voice instructor and parent at Woodward Academy, played the part of Amahl's mother. Members of the dance ensemble also performed as village people. The performance of the operetta this year served as a fitting opening of the Christmas season for students, faculty and parents.

A Thurber Carnival/Godspell

A Thurber Carnival

The Theater Division of the Woodward Academy Department of Performing Arts won statewide acclaim and praise during the 1983-1984 school year. "Thurber Carnival, Woodward's entry in the Region 4AAA One-Act Play competition, won first place honors above ten other regional contestants. The Best Actor and Actress awards for Region 4AAA also went to "Thurber" cast members Harrison Long and Lisa Shatterly. Under the direction of Linda P. Wise, the Thurber Carnival cast (Harrison Long, Ron Bertram, Chris Dietrich, Stacey Holt, Lisa Shatterly, Tina Garvin, Christine Burrell, and Karyn Gimbel) adapted the full length play for a compact thirty-five minute performance for competition purposes. Through the improvisational acting method, the company developed its own creative movement, characterization, and choreography shaping the familiar James Thurber short stories into a unique and exciting piece of ensemble theater. In January of 1984, the "Thurber" group traveled to Americus to compete in the State AAA finals and proudly brought home to Woodward Academy the State Championship trophy.

Godspell

The 1984 musical cast of Godspell delighted its audience in a lively celebration of the Gospel as told in St. Matthew. The familiar parables and teachings of Jesus were told with humor, love, and delight by the cast of "clowns" in improvised costumes. Many theatrical devices such as pantomime, children's role playing games, charades, puppets and varied dance styles were used to share the Biblical stories with the simplicity and exuberance of children. Because the entire cast remained on stage for the full show and since all the scenes, characters, and transitions were developed by the cast through creative improvisation, Godspell would have been a challenge for the most advanced theater troupe. The Woodward Academy Godspell cast also under the direction of Linda P. Wise, shared with its audience through laughter and tears the love, respect, joy, and sacrifice which must be in the heart of each man in order to release his spirit into the larger heart of mankind. Through wonderful songs and jubilant antics, the Godspell cast and audience joined together to "sing about love."

1. The cast of Godspell perform one of the many stirring musical compositions of the show. 2. Stacey Holt played the lead in the Academy musical Godspell. 3. Lisa Shatterly takes on the characterization of a bearskin rug in A Thurber Carnival. 4. Many facial expressions were displayed by the actors of A Thurber Carnival as Harrison Long and Karyn Gimbel time each held movement. 5. In Godspell, the character of Jesus teaches Marie Dalton the lesson of loving one another. 6. A Thurber Carnival was the acclaimed winner of the One-Act State AAA Championship Play. 7. Tina Garvin played the part of a loud, big-mouthed telephone operator in Woodward's adaptation of A Thurber Carnival. 8. Harrison Long and Lea Landers enjoy painting each other's face in one representation of a parable in Godspell.

Middle School Groups

There are many activities and groups available to interested Middle School students. For those students who are interested in mathematics and high technology, they are invited to join the Math team or the Computer club. In these groups, students participate in exercises that will test and increase their knowledge of available math and computer information. For literary-minded students, they may explore the world of journalism by working on the Middle School newspaper, The Primer. On the newspaper, students are encouraged to express their creativity in essays, poems, opinions, and cartoons. Students learn the correct forms of journalistic expression and design concepts. The musical students can become members of the band or chorus. Each year the band and choral groups present a series of concerts for the student body and for parents. Gaining valuable performing experience, the Middle School music students prepare themselves for further musical study in the Upper School. If students have an interest in political or judicial matters, they can run for class officer or sit on the Honor Council. Here the students can see first hand how difficult decisions are made and enforced. The girl's Powder Puff football team is also available for the athletic type. The girls play three hard fought games ending the season in a championship game. If the students will become involved, they have the opportunity to participate in any activity that sparks their interest.

Busey School Groups

Brownies

The Brownies are a group of young girls who strive to help girls of all ages become better individuals and citizens. The Busey Brownies participated in a spring campout with all the Girl Scouts in Clayton County. They also had Thinking Day which was a day set aside worldwide for all Girl Scouts to learn more about scouting in other countries. Their other activities were the Clayton County Plant-a-Tree, Brownie Day and a cookie sale. This year's Brownie leader was Wyleen Chapin. The Assistant leader was Jan McGuire and the Junior Aide was JoEllen Chapin.

Cub Scouts

The Cub Scouts provided boys with the knowledge and opportunity to become better citizens that will carry through to adulthood. The Busey Cub Scouts participated in many activities this year. They participated in the Atlanta Scout Show, the Pinewood Derby Race and the Blue and Gold Banquet. They also had a family campout weekend, visited the fire station, and ate at the Circus Playhouse. The leader of the Busey Cub Scouts this year was Joan Balliew and the assistant leaders were Wyleen Chapin and Linda Cox.

Junior Deputy

The Clayton County Junior Deputy's Sheriff's Department is the group of students sponsored by the Clayton County Sheriff's Department. They attended a meeting each month to learn more about bicycle safety, personal safety, firearm safety, drug abuse, and water safety. In May the students received a certificate for completing nine months of training, a badge, and an I.D. card. There was also a presentation given on the fingerprint identification used by law enforcement agencies.

4-H

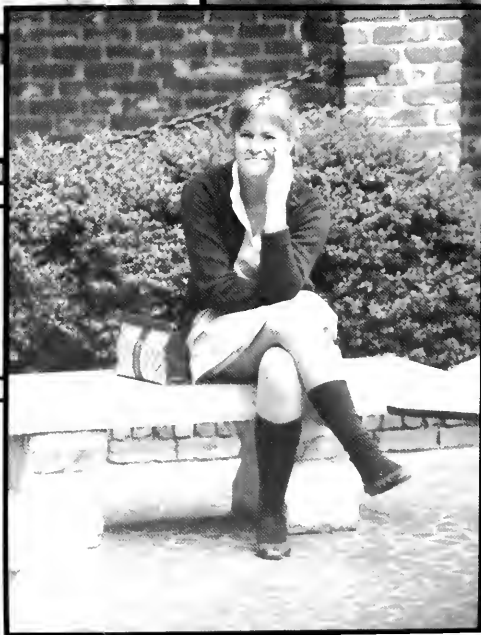

The 4-H club promotes self-esteem in fifth and sixth grade students through community service. The main event of the year was participant developed demonstrations on the topic of his choice. The demonstrations were judged by Clayton County, and the ones that qualified went on to District Project Achievement. Other events the 4-Her's participated in were summer camp, and "A Day at College" at Clayton Junior College which offered the students the opportunity to attend workshops on rocketry, dance and a variety of other topics. The sponsor of the 4-H club this year was Karen Cooley.

1. 4-H: FIRST ROW — Omar Zakaria, Jeanie Kim, Kristen Smick, Joanna Hale, Kavitha Mathew. BACK ROW — Brian Howe, Archie Hughes, JoEllen Chapin, Kevin York, Kevin Hockett, Mrs. Karen Cooley, Cory Lee. 2. GREETERS — COVERED WALKWAY: Kevin Hockett, Archie Hughes, Mrs. Joanne Berry, Cory Lee. 3. BROWNIES: FIRST ROW — Vivian Medina, Chiara Visconti, Jennifer Estaris, Amber Bowman. SECOND ROW — Heather Giordano, Amanda Collier, Jennifer Stockton, Adamma McKinnon, Catheline Rodgers. BACK ROW — Amy Staats, Kelly McGuire, Sonali Sampat, Robin Shirley, Stacie Shirley, Jan Payne. 4. FLAG PATROL: FIRST ROW — Sunjay Sood, Siva Mohan. BACK ROW — Ken Grady, Nathan Elath. 5. GREETERS — EARLY CHILDHOOD UNIT: FIRST ROW — Kim Jung. BACK ROW — Kristen Smick, Joanna Hale, Jeanie Kim. 6. CUB SCOUTS: FIRST ROW — Will Schroder, Todd Ellenberger, Ashley Koby, Tony Carusi, Lance Chapin. BACK ROW — Nathan Balliew, David Benson, Derek Gunter, Geoff Smick, Marlin Jefferson. 7. JUNIOR DEPUTY: FIRST ROW — Omar Zakaria, Kevin Hockett, Archie Hughes, Cory Lee, Brian Howe. BACK ROW — Deputy Sheriff Elsie Skelton, Jeanie Kim, Kristen Smick, Joanna Hale, Captain Jim Baker.

We make perfection easy to find in the Southeast.

We are The Metro Companies.

A family of perfectly matched subsidiaries working hand-in-hand to develop, build and manage some of the finest real estate properties in the Southeast.

Apartment homes, condominium residences, office parks and shopping centers.

For more than 25 years, our high standards have begun from the ground up. And paid off at the bottom line—for our residents and purchasers, as well as for our employees and investors.

Most people call that perfection. At The Metro Companies, we like to think of it as good business.

Some perfect examples: in Atlanta, apartment homes: North Hill, Winterset, Belcourt and Cimarron at Morgan Falls Station; condominiums: Peachtree Forest Plantation and Sycamore at Morgan Falls Station; and in Florida, apartments: Belmere, Seabrook and Marbrisa, and Park Place office park/shopping center.

To

December 14, 1983

Life and death are not tangible objects. We are here one minute and gone the next. While we are alive, life seems like an eternity. Yet, when death occurs, life becomes a minute piece of that eternity.

One never knows the hold another has over him until it is too late. That a certain person will always be there seems inevitable, especially when that person has not even begun to live his life.

John Ferguson died on December 14, 1983, a victim of an automobile accident. The sorrow among the students and faculty could be felt everywhere. John's death was not fair, but whoever said life was fair? John's memory remained constant in our minds and hearts on that December day. John Ferguson was an outstanding student and athlete who served as a vital part of the Academy. We can remember his smile and the day he came to school with a shaved head. And now, we must remember John as a part of us who has gone, even though his memory still remains.

OF WHITE WHALES, BLACK COFFEE AND EXCELLENCE IN TEACHING

1984 PHOENIX TRIBUTE — "CAPTAIN" BOB BALLENTINE

Since his appointment to GMA in 1959, Bob Ballentine has served the Academy successfully in many areas of responsibility: teacher, Director of Public Relations and Alumni Affairs, Public Information Officer, English Departmental Chairman, and Principal of the Upper School. In 1971 a grateful senior class, in dedicating the yearbook to him, stressed an even greater role which he has consistently played: a friend.

Following his discharge from the Navy, Mr. Ballentine obtained an ABJ from the University of Georgia and continued graduate study at UGA, Emory and Jacksonville University. Mr. Ballentine was responsible for the introduction and development of Woodward's successful AP Program in English. Former students associate "Captain" Ballentine with an inveterate attraction to a certain white whale and his love for that monumental work — Moby Dick: an unsurpassed ability to deliver interesting class lectures; the regularity with which his debate teams won state tournaments; and the expertise which he contributed during the years that he served as yearbook advisor.

The Ballentine affinity for the white whale and his enthusiasm for excellence in teaching remain undiminished. Fueled, one is almost certain, by the ever-present cup of black coffee. Mr. Ballentine has brought an old-fashioned devotion to each of his positions at the academy. It is to all of these qualities that the 1984 PHOENIX proudly and gratefully pays tribute to "Captain" Bob Ballentine.

(Reprinted in part from The Academy In Review)

Quiet, with an underlying Irish twinkle; cooperative, without words but with intense loyalty; thoughtful, but never reticent in good judgement; One superlative cannot say it all. "Captain Bob" will be missed by all. As Teyve said to Golde "After twenty-five years its nice to know." We love you

— Dr. Gary M. Jones

A master teacher with a flare for literature person oriented in decision making for twenty-five years of transition and change in the life of our school, Mr. "B" has stood like a rock of calm and positive influence toward lasting policy and procedure. His loyalty and dedication is unequal and we can truly say he has always provided "Every opportunity for every student."

— Don A. Woolf

Although former students and present colleagues invariably associate you, "Captain" Ballentine, with an inveterate attraction to a certain white whale, you once told me, in a moment of reflection, that perhaps the work of literature which you have most enjoyed reading and teaching is Paradise Lost. With no apology to Milton, may I say, Dear Friend, that by pursuing boldly and successfully "things (previously) unattempted" in the programs and progress of GMA-Woodward, you have been able "to bring forth/infinite goodness" to both students and staff of the Academy. "Some natural tears (we) dropp'd" at news of your retirement, knowing full well that "Day and Night, Seed-time and Harvest, Heat and Hoary Frost/ Shall hold their course" before we see you like again.

— Bobby W. Alford

An interesting metaphor for human relationships occurs in Chapter 72 of Moby Dick, my least favorite classic until Bob Ballentine taught me to appreciate its power and magnitude. In this chapter, entitled "The Monkey-Rope", Queequeg, the harpooner, dangles over the side of the ship as he strips the dead whale of its blubber. Around his waist is a rope which is attached at the other end to the waist of Ishmael. The welfare of each man depends upon the faithfulness and vigilance of the other. As Bob finds his own well-deserved "insular Tahiti," those of us left aboard ship are humbly grateful to have been tied to his monkey-rope.

— Carolyn Haldeman

Compassionate supportive understanding personal concern for my well being easy to talk with . . . A true friend — not just my boss. I'll truly miss Bob — he's like a second right hand to me.

— Mary Walker

Robert D. Ballentine retires in 1984 after 25 years of imparting in liberal doses "liberal education" to thousands of students and scores of teachers. Yes, his "intellect is a clear cold, logic engine" which is daunted and inspired English students as well as novice debaters. Certainly, "his mind is stored with a knowledge of the great and fundamental truths" of the universe — How could it be otherwise for a man who has traveled and traveled countless times in the splendid passages of Paradise Lost and the beloved Moby Dick. "But the essence of the man and the imperative under which, I believe, he has lived his life, under which he has sought to educate liberally (abhors a split infinitive) his fortunate charges, and under which he has related to students and colleagues alike is, stated simply, to be kind always. Patience piled on patience and a benign smile, when others would be justified in their railing — these are the graces of the man. Mr. Ballentine, Captain Ballentine if you prefer, has always been "the servant of a tender conscience."

— Lee Vincent

In a day when it's hard to find heroes and perhaps even harder to keep them, I'm glad to say I've got one. All too often, it seems to me, those whom we "put on a pedestal" end up having some major flaws which ultimately cause us to lose respect for them. Bob Ballentine, however, is a notable exception as he has maintained "hero status" with me for more than ten years. Certainly, just as we all do, Mr. Ballentine has a few imperfections; he invariably keeps his office too hot; his articles for the parents' club newsletter are usually a day or so late; and, frankly, he smokes too much. The key word with Bob, however, is few; the Good Captain has precious few imperfections. Furthermore, I suspect that Mr. B. displays those minor vices out of a form of graciousness to allow the rest of us to feel less inferior by comparison. Both as a teacher and later as a colleague, I've come to appreciate the amiable nature and scholarly abilities of Captain Bob Ballentine, one of the South's true gentlemen.

— R.L. Slider

Some years ago — never mind how long — I met a man in love with whales and students and things — but ideas mainly. Fortunate students knew well this mariner — I never sailed his course — only a lubber in his mind. Now while I luff — he reefs — his mark recorded.

EDITOR'S NOTE

As editor of the 1984 Phoenix, I, as well as others, have sacrificed many days, weeks and months to produce this Book. Needless to say, all that we experienced — long hours, endless nights, fatigue, depression and what seemed to be an inconceivable goal — became irrelevant when the first box of yearbooks was opened. Seeing, for the first time, the object that has been an integral part of your life for the past ten months is indescribable. That moment, one brief second, cancels every scream and every tear which stemmed from the frustration of producing this yearbook. Afterwards, three words, "It looks good," makes the time we have spent on this Book priceless.

Being editor of a book such as the 1984 Phoenix has, by all means, proven to be a challenge. Many of my daydreams and nightmares have revolved around this Book. There were times when I wondered if it was really worth it. An editor's job consists of 90% emotion and 10% skill. Through the pages of this Book you can see the 10% skill; what you cannot see is what it took to get it there. I have been very happy, very angry, very frustrated and most importantly very determined. My senior quote states, "Success is not measured by heights attained, but by obstacles overcome." I have faced many obstacles this year — some were easily overcome, yet others took everything I had to overcome. Through it all I have had my determination; without it I would have never made it. Then, I go back to the question, "Was it really worth it?" YOU BETTER BELIEVE IT!

The production of this Book has included many, many contributions from various people, some of which are obvious, and some of which are less obvious; yet, each contribution from each person has played an important part in creating the Book you see before you. First and foremost, I would like to thank Susan Sanders, my advisor, and Phen McElroy, my assistant editor, for their help and dedication. Without them, the Book would have never gotten finished. To Susan, thanks for believing in me; to Phen, thanks for the support. To Sandra Pounds, I would like to say thanks for everything — your ideas, and most of all, the time you gave up for the Book. To Marshall Eubanks, thank you; your expertise and encouragement made my job worthwhile. To my parents, thanks for understanding why I spent so much time in the yearbook room. To Bev Buhl and Sheila Childers, thanks for listening; I don't know what I would have done without you. To Lisa McDonough, thank you for caring so much; I tried to make the most of it! To Jeff Wood, Scott Shaffer, Pam Coleson, Jeff Higgins, Anna Mathis, Walter Ernest, Dixon Soracco and Scott Ward, thanks for the help. To everyone who encouraged me, I say thank you; you gave me hope when everything began to seem hopeless. I hope you enjoy the Book.
